

Deregulation: a dirty word?

Senate Bill would reduce city powers to regulate Cable TV

The word out of Washington D.C. is "deregulation" these days and when applied to cable TV and the right for local municipalities to negotiate rates with cable firms, the word is a "dirty" one.

A Federal Information Bulletin, dated July 30, 1981 points out that "The Senate Commerce Committee recently approved S898, a bill deregulating the telecommunications industry, including cable TV." Beware of this warned Beverly McAnally, Romulus city treasurer.

"If the bill is enacted as reported by the committee, cities would have sharply reduced powers to regulate cable in the community," she says, quoting the bulletin. "The National League of Cities (NLC) is beginning an 'all out' campaign to defeat this attempt by the cable industry to avoid reasonable and responsible local regulation. NLC urges all city officials to contact their senators on this issue."

Most cities and townships have awarded or are on the verge of awarding cable TV franchises in the area. If the bill is approved, according to Mrs. McAnally, "local municipalities would be deprived of negotiating their own rates with the cable TV firms."

Mrs. McAnally urged city and township officials to fight the passage of the Senate Bill.

According to the bulletin, "the senate bill would do two things. First it would prohibit the federal government, state and local governments from regulating the rates charged to consumers by cable companies and second, it would direct the Federal Communications Commission to set ceilings on the franchise fees that local governments charge cable companies."

"These provisions are totally objectionable to local governments. Cable companies are virtual monopolies in the communities they serve and guaranteed that monopoly position for periods of time," the bulletin added.

Mrs. McAnally said she feels the federal government should not intervene in rates charged by a municipality to a cable TV firm.

"It's none of the federal government's business what a city or township can negotiate with the firm," she stressed, "and what this senate bill would do is direct the Federal Communications Commission to set ceilings on the franchise fees that local governments charge cable companies - we don't feel it's right - it's none of their business."

"Whatever we can negotiate with the cable TV companies for our community, be it less or more, is our own business - not the federal government's."

"So I, and I feel council, will find those provisions that are in the proposed bill as objectionable. I just believe government begins here, in a council chamber, and when you take the local community out of the decision-making and don't give them that power, then you've really lost a great deal," Mrs. McAnally added.

Romulus was scheduled to open bids from various companies seeking the Cable TV franchise in that city today. Mrs. McAnally said she didn't know which firms had submitted bids for the franchise.

However, before the franchise is awarded, the public will have an opportunity to question representatives of the competing firms.

"And the public hearing aspect as well as citizen input are the very things that I'm defending - that right should not be aberrated to the federal government Senate Bill 898 would do just that," she said.

Police want him for Armed robbery

Romulus police today released a composite sketch of a man who they believe abducted and robbed the elderly owners of the Shady Hollow Golf Course.

Police Chief Donald Flood said that the individual is believed to be a dark-skinned, very thin build, white male in his 20s who has brown unkempt hair. He is between 5-feet-3 to 5-feet-4 inches tall.

The gunman is believed to be in the golf course area about six hours before the robbery-kidnapping.

Anyone with any information about the incident should contact the Romulus Police Department at 941-8400.

PCHA comes under Fire

Councilman Rush: 'Room rates soar'

If the Peoples Community Hospital Authority is amassing wealth at the expense of its member communities, should not the assessment be lowered?

At least one city councilman feels that the PCHA should funnel monies back to its affiliated communities and "not keep bonding for new constructions."

Romulus City Councilman Ed Rush said "that there appears to be something wrong when room rates at PCHA have climbed over 75 percent during a period of the past five years, yet the PCHA has made, according to reports, in an excess of $10.3 million in profits."

Room rates in 1976, Rush stressed, on an average was $96 a day. It has climbed to $168.

Rush points out "that making a profit isn't a dirty word, however, the PCHA was set up as a non-profit organization."

The PCHA was established in 1945 to provide medical care for many of the area communities including Belleville, Romulus, Van Buren, Wayne, Ypsilanti, and the downriver communities of Lincoln Park, Allen Park, and Melvindale. A total of 24 communities are served by PCHA.

The hospital authority operates Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, Heritage Hospital in Taylor, Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park and Seaway Hospital in Trenton.

For the services, each of the member communities is assessed 0.4 mills or 40 cents for each $1,000 of their assessed real estate valuation. With inflation and increase in property values, the PCHA coffers have been overflowing in recent

PCHA chief elected to MHA board

John J. Freysinger, executive director of Peoples Community Hospital Authority, Wayne, has been elected to the Michigan Hospital Association's Executive Committee, which recommends policies to the association's board of trustees.

The MHA, based in Lansing, is the chief advocate for the hospital industry in Michigan.

A member and past chairman of the MHA board of trustees, Freysinger is chairman of the hospital contingent of the state-wide hospital reimbursement committee, which develops hospital reimbursement policies. He also is a past chairman of the MHA's Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan Committee.

He joined Peoples Community Hospital Authority in 1977 after serving as president of Pontiac General Hospital. The authority is a multi-hospital system that includes Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Beyer Memorial Hospital, Ypsilanti, Heritage Hospital, Taylor, Outer Drive Hospital, Lincoln Park, and Seaway Hospital, Trenton.

Freysinger has served as a research associate instructor and assistant professor of public health for the University of Michigan School of Public Health. He holds a bachelor of arts degree, a master's in business administration, and a master's in public health from the University of Michigan.

IRS warns it'll check for false claims

New procedures to curb the filing of false federal income tax withholding forms by taxpayers claiming unreasonable numbers of allowances, or total exemption from withholding, are now in effect, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Employers must send IRS copies of any Forms W-4 claiming more than 9 withholding allowances or claiming exemption from withholding if their wages are expected to usually exceed $200 a week.

The IRS will then determine the correct number of withholding allowances and notify the employer of the specified lower number of withholding allowances. The employer must withhold taxes from the employee based on this number, according to the IRS.

The employee might then file another W-4 certificate, claiming a number of allowances greater than the number the IRS furnished, or total exemption from paying tax. The employer is required to disregard that certificate. However, if an employee attaches to the certificate a statement explaining why the new certificate should be honored, the employer will submit the new certificate and statement to the IRS for review. Should the IRS determine the new certificate is correct, the employer will be notified to honor it.

The following example illustrates the new procedures:

An employee files a Form W-4 claiming 35 exemptions. The employer submits the form to the IRS for consideration.

If it is determined that the employee appears to be entitled to a lesser number of exemptions, such as 7, and the employee does nothing or files a certificate claiming 34 exemptions, the employer will withhold from the employee on the basis of 7 exemptions. The employer would continue to withhold based upon 7 exemptions even if the employee subsequently files a certificate claiming 8 exemptions, until otherwise advised by the IRS.

Details about withholding can be found in the IRS free Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," available by calling the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in the telephone directory under U.S. Government.

Sumpter, landfill owners battle 'over the pits'

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Sumpter Supervisor Jim Reeves carried his battle against landfill expansion to television last week when he was interviewed before Channel 7 cameras in front of township hall.

"I'm opposed to the dumping of toxic waste material and it is my obligation to the people for their health, safety and welfare," said the 56-year-old head administrator of Sumpter Township.

Reeves was contacted by WXYZ-TV in Detroit about the battle going on over more landfills.

They arranged to meet him at Sumpter Township Hall to question him about his opposition to the landfill expansion. City Sand and Landfill, located on the south side of Willow Road about one mile west of Sumpter Road, has applied to use one-third of its 240-acre site as a disposal for hazardous wastes.

City Sand & Landfill is the first firm in Michigan to seek a permit to run a general commercial landfill for toxic wastes under the state's 1979 Hazardous Waste Management Act. There are several other companies who have since made application under the 1979 law, called Act 64. Those applications, however, are for sites that would handle waste only from the companies involved.

City Sand & Landfill's 80-acre site, if approved, could accept various wastes from any source as long as state standards were met. The firm has also applied to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) for permission to build a liquid hazardous waste treatment plant at its Detroit site.

Reeves strongly opposes any more "dumps" in the township, saying the existing landfill makes Sumpter "the septic tank of Detroit."

One question asked Reeves was if he would approve the dumping of toxic waste if the DNR and Wayne County Health Dept. could prove it was safe to do so.

"Of course I had to say no," the supervisor explained to the Belleville Enterprise. "Because the landfill's past record of handling solid waste is poor. I shudder to think they might be approved to dump toxic waste in our township."

Reeves and state officials said the firm had problems for several years in meeting construction schedules for dikes to prevent runoff from the existing landfill, which now handles only non-hazardous waste.

However, Reeves knows of at least two occasions about a month ago when two truckloads of liquid waste from the City of Monroe was dumped at City Sand and two more truckloads were turned

Huron Twp. board gives clerk 'vote of confidence'

Trustees cite Mrs. Carey for service, devotion to job

Huron Township Clerk Mary Lou Carey, who is facing a recall election in September, has been commended by the township board for her service to the community.

A resolution introduced last week by trustee William Geierman cited the clerk for her work with the township, the Wayne County Municipal Clerks' Association and the Michigan Townships Association.

The commendation was approved by a 3-1 margin with trustees Geierman and John Puskar and treasurer Christine Gamber voting in favor and trustee Gary Bates opposed. Supervisor Richard Sullivan, trustee Fred Ashby and Carey, a township resident for over 30 years, abstained.

Geierman's resolution listed Carey's achievements during her tenure in office, which has included her position as Huron Township clerk for eight of the last 10 years.

Among her honors mentioned was her election to the Michigan Townships Association board of directors for the 18th district and her election to several offices in the Wayne County Municipal Clerks Association (she presently serves as vice-president).

"This is a vote of confidence," explained. Geierman. "She's a very qualified person and this is our way of letting the citizens know that we appreciate her efforts."

Bates termed the resolution "purely political" and referred to the recall campaign mounted against the clerk.

"People just don't march for no reason at all," he said.

A group of Huron Township citizens has collected signatures seeking Carey's recall for alleged "excessive spending of township funds for all too little or no benefit to township residents."

Carey, visibly shaken at the township board's commendation, said after the meeting that a "smear campaign" was being waged against her throughout the community, filled with "personal innuendos." The recall election has been set for September 14.

If home sales slide

County predicts tax reductions

"County taxpayers can probably expect a reduction in real and personal property tax in 1983 if home sales continue to slide for another eight months," George E. McEachran, newly elected President of the Michigan Assessors Association (MMA) and Director of the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation said today.

"Of the 43 communities in the County," McEachran said, "ten have shown a one to four percent decline in property value. Although the state requires a two-and-a-half year study of residential sales, the 1979-80 market was flat and the first half of 1981 has indicated a definite downward trend in the SEV (State Equalized Value)," he explained.

Homes are assessed at 50 percent of their potential selling price and taxes are pegged to that value. "Although tax rates might remain the same,"

McEachran continued, "people can expect to pay more taxes if their real or property values go up — and less if they depreciate. High interest rates," he said, "have been a contributing factor in depressing home values in today's market."

Wayne County's current SEV is $18.1 billion.

McEachran, a Wyandotte resident and former city councilman, was elected president of the 1168-member MMA August 4th at their annual convention in Traverse City. He has been with the County 29 years and Director of the Bureau of taxation since 1976.

He is also a member of the Wyandotte General Hospital Commission, the Wyandotte Yacht Club and is President of Greater Detroit Hospital Service, Inc., composed of five hospital facilities.

ASK THE CHIROPRACTOR

Dear Dr. Elwart: Lately I seem to be having "dizzy spells," can Chiropractic do anything for it?

DR. DAN ELWART

Dear Dr. Shaft: My shoulder hurts when I try to lift things and even when I try to fix my hair, what can cause this problem?

Most persons think of the shoulder joint as being one joint where the upper arm meets the collar bone. Actually there are seven joints that form the shoulder complex and all of these must work in harmony. If there is a problem in one of these joints the other six are affected to some degree. When the bone, muscle and connective tissue with these joints have a normal nerve supply the shoulder works fine. However, when the nerve supply is irritated or impinged either in the spinal column or in the arm and shoulder itself, pain and abnormal limits of motion are bound to occur. Sometimes, (rarely) the condition corrects itself, usually it gets worse. Chiropractic removes this irritation on the nerves or the impingement. We have had wonderful results with this condition. By all means come in and get this condition corrected! For additional information on these problems write or call us.

PERK-UP: It means jobs

By SUE McDONALD
ANP NEWS EDITOR

The whole idea behind the program is to help teens make career path decisions, but Project PERK (Parks Evaluation and Restoration for Kids) has meant something for Attwood Park.

A federally funded program through the Wayne County Office of Manpower, PERK has 41 youths 16 through 18 years of age working in parks in Wayne and Westland this summer.

In Wayne it is Attwood Park, which has benefitted most from their labors. Overgrown areas along its southern edge were cleared, and they now are working on extending the park east to the border of property belonging to Wayne County.

A part of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), the youths are from socially or economically disadvantaged situations. They work eight hours a day, five days a week, and earn $3.35 an hour.

Of the 22 weeks in PERK, six are spent in the classroom according to instructor-counselor Ron Lovelace. The first four weeks of the program orient the youths to the 16 weeks of hands-on experience they received throughout the summer.

Lovelace added that those four weeks also are used to about work, authority and on taking direction.

"We found out problems through group counseling," he explained, "but a lot of the four weeks was developing a rapport with them to get around the stereotype of a high school teacher."

Lovelace works in PERK through the school district, and prior to that worked in social work for several years.

"Our approach in the classroom was more personable. We couldn't just lecture for four hours straight. We tried to be more like a friend, while maintaining the respect that's necessary."

The four weeks in the classroom provided the youths with the theory behind parks and such things as why trees are important. Once that was mastered, they started in the city parks, working with Jeff Tillson, who set up work assignments. Tillson, who got involved in PERK through the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department, described the program as "a learning experience for me as much as it's for the kids."

Work started at Attwood Park. Drive-way markers were painted, shrubs planted, and brush cleared out in some areas. Once done, they move on to expanding the park, a project that most likely won't be completed by these youths and not until next years.

"A lot of what we do is park maintenance," Tillson explained.

Interspersed with the hands-on experience are field trips to the University of Michigan Botanical Gardens, Belle Isle and similar sites.

Through a survey of the youths, PERK staffers found out career interests and have set up field trips that will acquaint the teens with their future interests. For those interested in college study in pursuit of a degree, there was the opportunity to sit in an actual college lecture. Theirs also was a visit to a funeral home for one "PERKer" who expressed an interest in mortuary science.

Once the 16 weeks in the park is completed, the youths will return to the classroom to work on job search and job retention. They'll learn how to write resumes, how to use themselves as the product to market to employers potentially.

The staff, which includes Lovelace, George Grisham and Jim Jones, will work on placing the youths in jobs, "something where there's a career ladder..."

A few of the teens already have been placed in jobs, while several others are job ready but in need of some direction, Lovelace explained.

It is Jones' job to find jobs for the youths, and he readily admits to having trouble finding work for the young people.

"Most people are laid off now, and employers would rather hire them than a kid who's willing to do the job," Jones said. "Employers aren't giving the kids a chance; they'd rather hire someone with more experience."

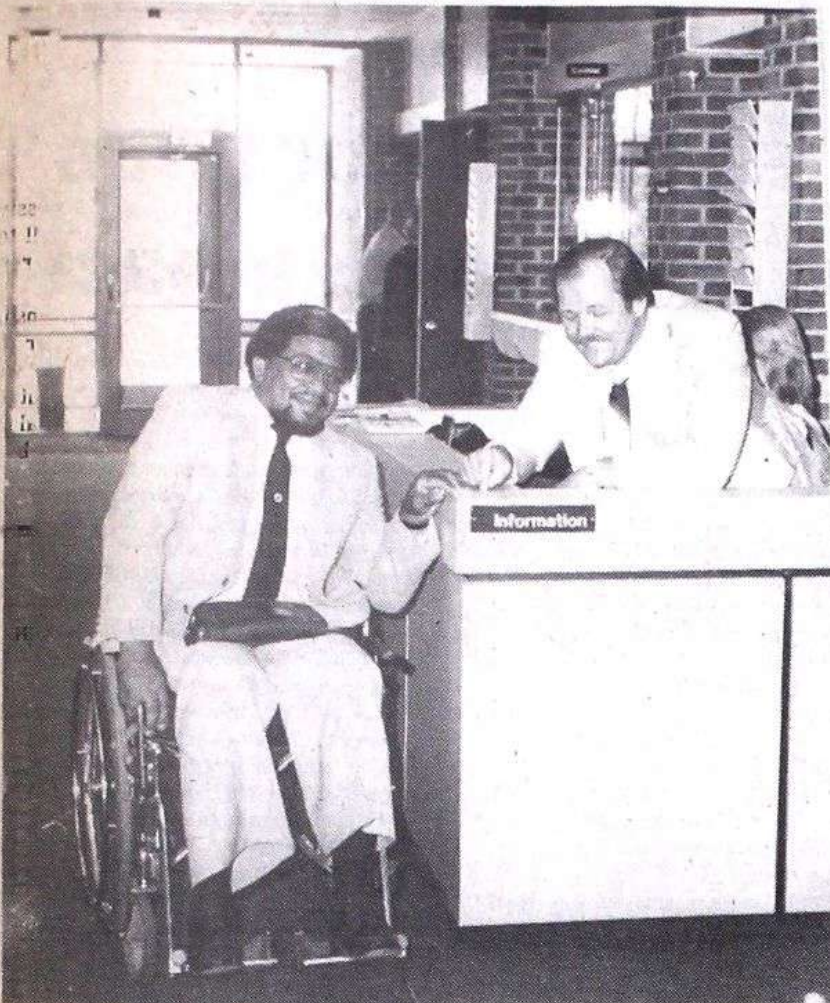

The staff will stay on with a PERK a month after the teens are done, trying to find jobs for them. There also will be a constant followup for a year by the staff to see if their are problems and to work them out.

Success for PERK is measured by how many of the youths are placed in their prospective fields and by how long they stay.

"As far as we're concerned the program is a success," Lovelace added. "We're quite pleased, and so is the Office of Manpower."

"These kids need someone to tell them they're worth something and that they can do the work," he added. "They're pretty responsible once they're treated as adults."

But while the staffers look in PERK as a success, Jones still is urging employers interested in hiring one of the youths to contact him at 595-2491.

Welcome back

Henry Bealum, a 1954 graduate of Romulus High School, was back "home" recently to visit a lot of his friends. He is shown at city hall enjoying a laugh with Mayor William M. Oakley and also sharing conversation with Vivian Armstrong (from left) of the building department; his father, Eddie, and Elizabeth Martin, a former high school mate, who works in accounting. Bealum is mayor of Cerritos, Calif., a city of 54,000 population south of Los Angeles. Henry is the son of Eddie and Lydia Bealum of Beverly Road in Romulus.

PCHA comes under attack

Rush was also critical of PCHA's recent plan "to pump funds into non-PCHA facilities such as in Brownstown where hospital officials will contribute $500,000 to construct an ambulatory care center at Oakwood Hospital."

"True, we are committed to pay off any debts incurred by the PCHA as members," Rush stressed, "however, it also follows that since it (PCHA) is and had been organized as a non-profit organization it should continue to be so."

"And that any such profits should go to reduce the over-all debt of the bonds incurred to build the facilities or be passed down to its subscribers in the form of reduced assessments."

Rush and some of his colleagues believe the State Legislature should revise the state law pertaining to the PCHA and "Give municipalities that are affiliated with it the right to exercise some control over how the money is being spent."

Last week, the Romulus City Council voted to request its state representatives in Lansing to "look into and investigate the recent actions of the PCHA."

Mallet joins EDC board

(DEARBORN). Conrad L. Mallett, director of Detroit's Department of Transportation, has been elected to the boards of two sister agencies engaged in economic development activities in Wayne County. At meetings this week, the boards of the Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County and the Metropolitan Growth and Development Corporation unanimously elected Mallett to full board membership.

In presenting Mallett's nomination, EDC board chairman Gary L. Bilgamen noted that "Conrad Mallett's experience, both in the private sector and in government, and his closeness over the years to the problems facing this region will, I believe, be enormously helpful in guiding the programs and policies of this agency. I'm sure my colleagues on the Growth Corporation's board feel the same way."

John F. Connell, chairman of the board of the MGDC, expressed the same view in presenting Mallett's nomination to the board. "We are pleased," Connell stated, "that Conrad has found the time in his busy schedule to work with us and help us realize our missions of economic growth and revitalization in Wayne County."

Both the Economic Development Corporation and the Metropolitan Growth and Development Corporation are non-profit organizations devoted to the economic betterment of Wayne County, especially through the creation of new business opportunities and greater employment opportunities in this region.

Should bus drivers have to take physicals?

There seems no sound reason why a school bus driver should have to take a physical examination every year. No ruder it make much sense for an experienced school bus driver to have to take safety education courses.

Both would seem to be a waste of time and money. Under a new state law, school bus drivers will be required to take a physical examination once every five years, instead of annually.

In addition, school bus safety instruction would be required only of new drivers. When the Legislature wrote the 1980-81 budget for the Michigan Department of Education it included a requirement that the department review general school laws and administrative rules to recommend changes that would cut costs in programming, services and administration for school districts and the department.

One area the department located was the requirement in the Michigan Vehicle Code that school bus drivers submit to annual physical examination. The department felt that this requirement is excessive and could be decreased without sacrificing bus driver qualifications.

The department also recommended the elimination of bus driver safety courses after the initial basic course taught to all new drivers. As it was, experienced drivers required to take the safety courses, which are taught by intermediate school districts or universities, at least every three years.

In addition, the department recommended some other minor changes in the law. While the new law would require the physical examinations only every five years, it allows a school superintendent to require an individual bus driver to take a physical exam more frequently if the superintendent has reason to believe that the driver is not physically qualified to drive a school bus.

The Department of Education estimates that the less frequent physical examination would mean a savings of $2.7 million to local school districts over a five-year period. Elimination of the required safety courses for experienced drivers would, according to the department, would save an estimated $477,000.

(Because the state reimbursement to schools for transportation expenses through the School Aid Act is a "capped" amount, the new law will result in neither cost savings nor added expenditures to the state.)

Annual physical examinations for school bus drivers are not absolutely necessary and represent a cost to local school districts that cannot be justified in light of current budget cutbacks in many other areas.

The five-year interval for physicals, together with emphasis on school bus driver selection, supervision, control and evaluation by local administrators, would provide some economic relief to local schools without jeopardizing bus safety.

Eliminating the requirement for advanced bus driver training makes sense. The relatively few annual changes in laws and rules on bus safety can be handled at the local level. At any rate, the local supervisors should be the ones to decide if their drivers need more formal bus safety education.

The savings resulting from the change in the law could be used by local districts for direct transportation costs — an extremely important move as more and more districts slip into financial distress.

Sumpter awaits court decision on toxic waste away by the Wayne County Health Dept. According to Reeves, the company was never issued a violation for the dumping of toxic wastes.

"On several occasions I had asked the county health department about closely checking the material that is dumped. They said they didn't have the personnel to monitor the present operation."

"If they don't have the personnel to monitor solid waste disposal, how can they possibly monitor even more dangerous material?" Reeves inquired.

On the other hand, Reeves says he has talked extensively with Glenn Brown, Mike Andrews and other officials of the Wayne County Health Department and received good cooperation. "On different occasions I've received some complaints from residents concerning the unauthorized dumping of fill sediment that caused septic tank problems at a mobile home park in the township. Robert Ratz, an engineer with the county health department has been very helpful," the Sumpter supervisor said.

Reeves is joined by the entire Sumpter Board of Trustees in objecting to expansion of landfills in the township. "This is supposed to be strictly a test program. They got approval for their 80-acre expansion last fall, just before the new board took office."

Tom Handyside, City Sand's vice-president for engineering, was quoted in a metropolitan newspaper as saying he did not think the past problems should affect the new application, though he said he expected some local controversy.

"But it (the landfill) is a necessity," he said. "There's no doubt consumers and industry demand these sites and that's what we're in business for."

According to state health officials, the review process for City Sand's permit will take up to eight months to approve. The DNR has four months to study project plans and recommend approval or denial. Then the site approval board holds public hearings, reviews plans and can impose restrictions on the project.

Reeves says he is committed to fighting any more landfills in Sumpter and is willing to battle for what he calls "the health, safety and welfare of the residents of Sumpter."

Another company, MJW, a firm that wants to open a new landfill on 80 acres at Martinsville and Arkona, was denied by a court ruling in January but is back in court trying to get approval to go ahead.

"Every member of the Township Board is against more landfills," Reeves said. "I have respect and admiration for every member of the board and it's a pleasure to serve with everyone of them."

"I'm proud of the accomplishments we've made. We're a mixed community. We're integrated and doing a good job. I'm proud of the progress we've made in that regard in Sumpter Township."

"This is a great community and I will continue to do my best to make it the best it can possibly be," Reeves said.

New food stamp system

"The new food stamp issuance system in Wayne County has caused some confusion on the part of recipients," says Robert L. Little, director of Wayne County Department of Social Services.

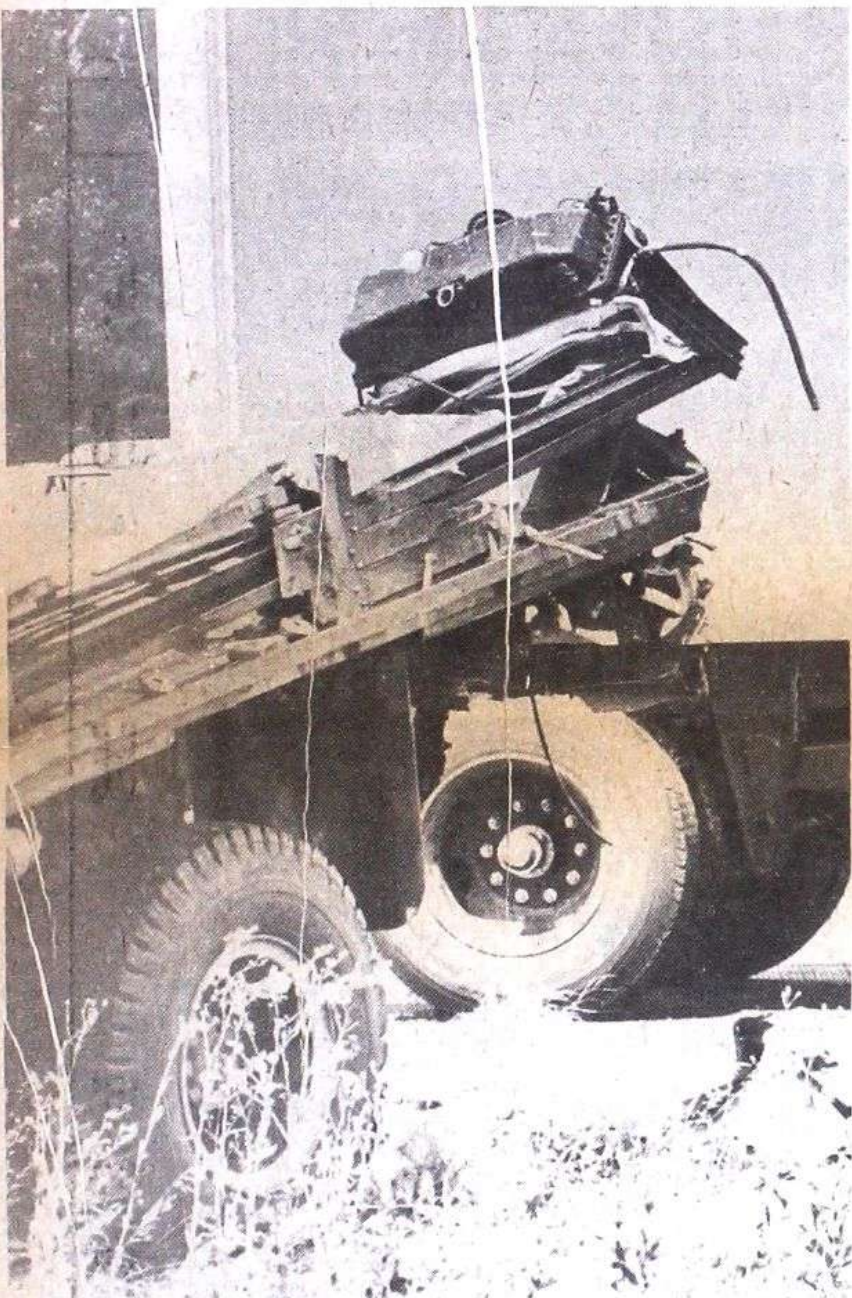

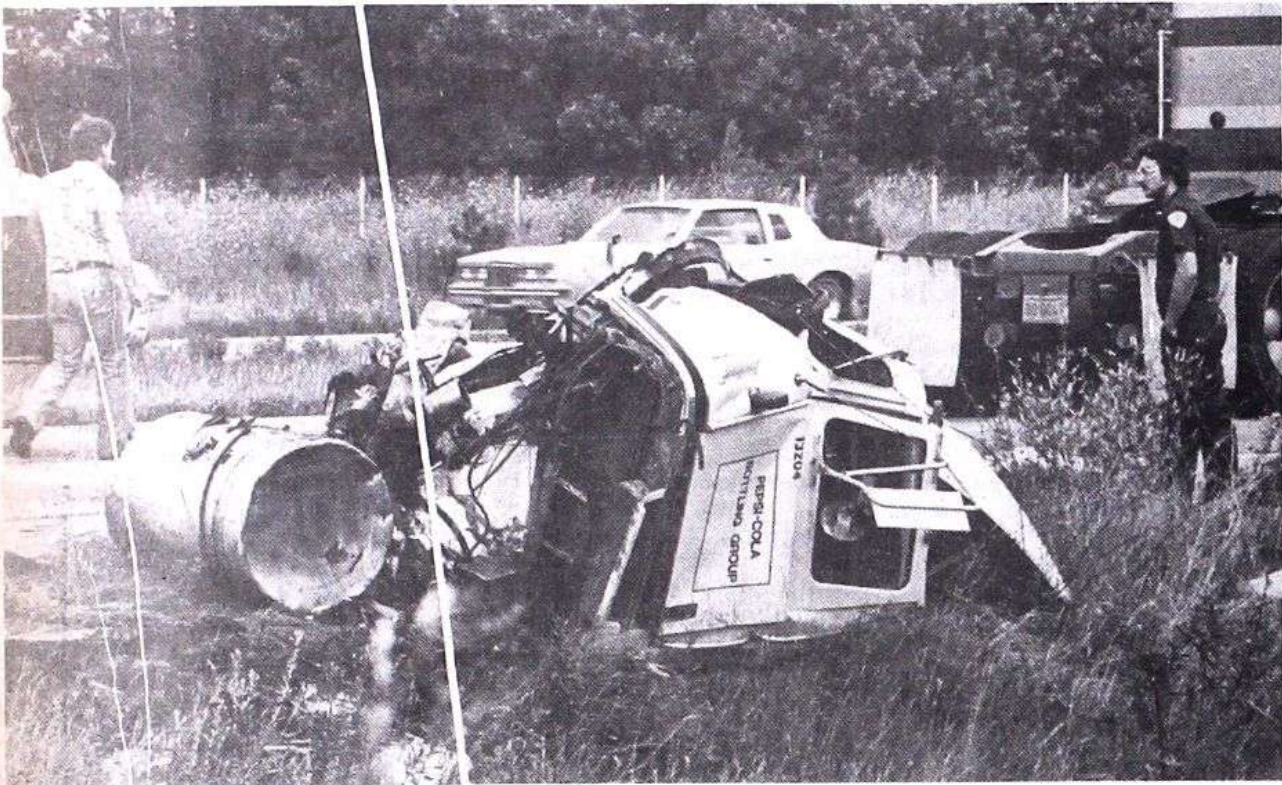

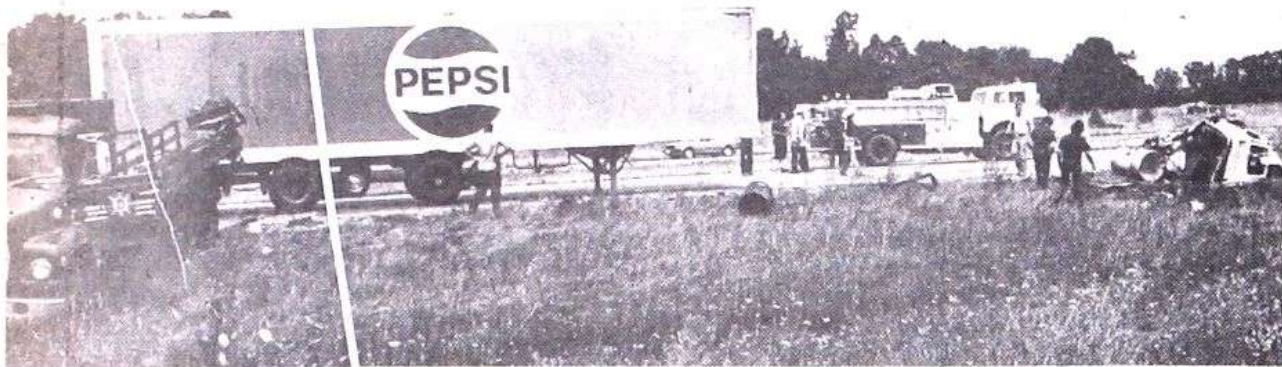

"The primary misunderstanding on the part of our clients is the interim procedure for obtaining food coupons during this first month of operation," Little said.

"During the start up period, three pieces of information are required for recipients to obtain food coupons. Though recipients were notified of this requirement, some have not adhered to the procedure and have been turned away from issuance sites."

Additional information on the new system, food stamp sites and issuance hours may be obtained by calling the food stamp hot line, 256-3103, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Stalled car leads to death of elderly Indiana woman

A stalled car in the center lane of eastbound I-94 between Rawsonville and Belleville Rds. precipitated a fatal accident and a separate truck mishap last Tuesday afternoon, state police said.

State Police identified the fatal victim of a three-car collision as Mary LeFevre, 68, of Indiana who was rushed to the Beyer Hospital where she died on the operating table.

A second victim, George Wall, 59, of Detroit also was taken to the hospital where he was treated for minor injuries and later released.

According to state police, a car driven by Cyprian Nwodo, 32 of Ypsilanti, stalled in the center lane and a second car, driven by David LeFevre, 66, plowed into the rear of the stalled vehicle.

Troopers said the impact of the two caused the stalled car to burst into flames.

Wall in the third car, told police he saw the accident before him but was unable to stop in time to prevent the collision.

As police were trying to clear the scene, a Pepsi Cola delivery truck and a second vehicle also collided in the center east-bound lane, sending both vehicles off the road.

Neither driver was seriously injured, but both vehicles sustained heavy damages. The radiator of one of the vehicles wound up on the rear of the other.

"It's a miracle that none of the others involved in this accident were injured," a state trooper later said.

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

PORCELAIN COATED GOLD CROWN

If you have a chipped, discolored, broken, poorly shaped or badly decayed tooth — as long as the root remains — there is still hope for restoring its natural appearance and function. An artificial crown does the job.

The veneer crown actually comprises a jacket of porcelain fused to gold, cemented in position to replace the enamel of the tooth. It fits over the natural tooth surface which is prepared in such a way as to provide a strong base for the crown.

The cosmetic result of this procedure is beautiful. Tooth shade is carefully analyzed and the shade determined by taking into account such considerations as stains, grooves, enamel thickness, complexion and age. Carefully matched veneer crowns many times resemble the adjoining natural teeth so closely that it is possible to fool even a dental hygienist who is cleaning the teeth.

Laboratory techniques now enable us to do marvelous things with porcelain that were unthinkable not too many years ago. Further, porcelain is color stable. It will not change color with time.

Update on schools

V-B board says it'll continue to strive for compromise pact

Through a release from its offices, the Van Buren Board of Education this week announced "that it would continue to strive to achieve a compromise settlement of the teacher contract."

The press release read, in part, that the Van Buren Board of Education and the Wayne County ME/NEA had reached an impasse in negotiations and that:

"About two weeks ago, the Board of Education implemented its current offer in the negotiation of a teacher master agreement. The results of the action were that teachers received, with the July 31 payroll, a check representing a 5% pay increase for the 1979-80 year and another 5% retroactive pay boost for 1980-81.

"For a typical teacher, one with a Master's Degree at maximum salary, for instance, this resulted in a payment of $3,782. A new salary schedule, including a third 5% increase was authorized for the 1981-82 school year, each year's raise based on the increased salaries of the previous year.

The compounded 5% per year offer had been on the bargaining table for some time and in each year's General Fund budget such moneys had been placed in a contingency account.

Also included in the move was the implementation of all contract changes previously agreed to and the Board's position on remaining unresolved issues.

"Beginning teacher salary for this year will now be $14,487 annually, up from the $12,514 in the old contract. Maximum teacher pay will be $31,505 per year, up from $27,215 previously. Average annual teacher salary, with a reduced staff, will be $26,527 during the 1981-82 school year. A typical teacher, at maximum salary with a Master's Degree, will receive an annual salary of $28,716, up some $3,900 from the prior maximum on that scale.

"The action to implement the current offer was taken by the Board of Education mainly out of concern for the district's teachers who have worked two years without a salary schedule increase. There have been some 40 bargaining sessions since June of 1979, several recently with a state mediator. As little progress had been made on the remaining unsettled issues, it was held impasse had been reached. In its resolution, the Board acknowledged its obligation to continue to negotiate the contract. A bargaining session had been sought prior to July 31, without success. A session with the state mediator has now been set for August 25, 1981.

"Tentatively agreed upon contract changes, implemented by the Board's action, include increased family sick days from three to five, increased Driver Education wage rates and added paid preparation time, increased mileage reimbursement from 13¢ to 17¢ per mile ton, Ontario—were shaken from their ordeal, but their vehicles were torn apart by the impact. The Pepsi truck's radiator (above) wound up on the stake truck. The accident occurred last Tuesday on I-94 between Rawsonville and Belleville roads.

Tragedy scene

Owen committee to continue probe of community placement program

A legislative investigation into waste and mismanagement of the state's community placement program will continue, according to the chair of the investigation.

Representative Gary Owen (D-Ypsilanti), chair of the Joint Capital

Outlay Subcommittee, said his committee would not be intimidated by claims that his committee's work was destroying the community placement program.

"For example, the claims that the cap on return of investments will slow down the program shows how misinformed these people are," said Representative Owen.

"They fail to point out that the 12 percent cap was, in fact, recommended by the Department of Management and Budget with the concurrence of the committee. And they fail to point out that the cap results in actual returns on investments of 25 percent or more for owners of these homes."

Owen said Department of Management and Budget figures showed that the actual net return on an $80,000 home would come to about 27 percent in the first year, assuming an $8,000 down payment on an 11 percent land contract, and assuming the investor was in a 36 percent federal tax bracket.

"By the sixth year, that net rate of return grows to 38 percent. And I am convinced that these figures are actually on the conservative side—the return to investors in community homes is actually much higher."

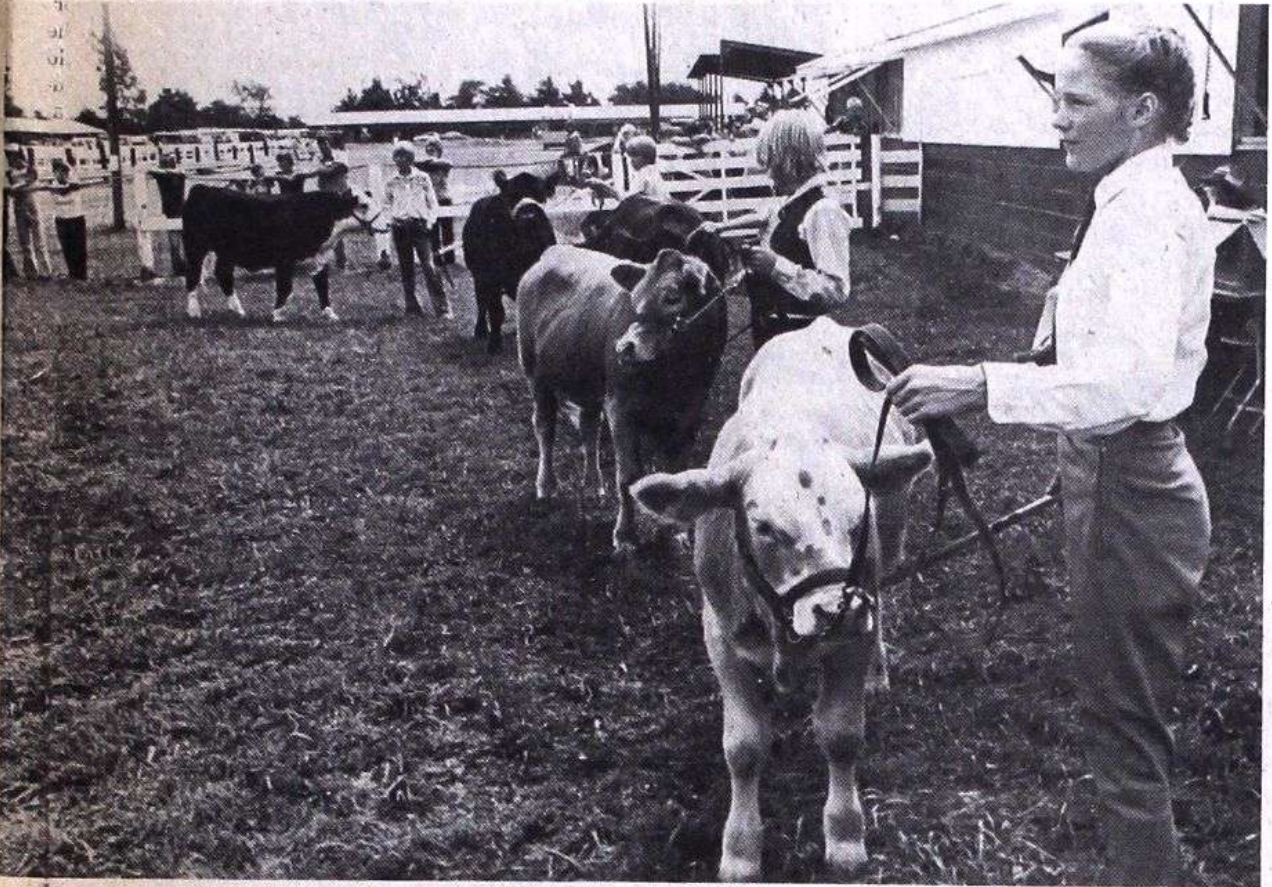

"The Department says there is absolutely no indication that this policy is resulting in investors being reluctant to become involved in community placement."

Owen denied allegations by some mental health advocates that his committee was out to destroy the community placement program.

"I have supported community placement every time it has come before the Legislature, and will continue to do so."

"But I will never tolerate major waste and mismanagement of any state program, and the audit of community placement clearly demonstrates that there has been waste. In fact, the directors of both Mental Health and Social Services concede that the audits criticism of the program management are at least 95 percent accurate. Community placement can only succeed if waste and mismanagement are eliminated to the greatest possible extent."

Owen said his committee will continue hearing into the management of the community placement program, and indicated he hoped it would complete its work within two months.

for teacher use of personal car, increased Association Days from 16 to 24, removal of distance limits for use of funeral days, removal of non-work days from salary computation, improved leave provisions, provision of a minimum of two annual evaluations for probationary teachers, provision of multiple evaluations when a teacher is assigned to more than one building, increased Board responsibility to support teachers in discipline situations, provision of aid in moving from building to building, addition of winter breaks to the school calendar, and increased number of Extended Curriculum Release Days for inservice education activities.

Among the unsettled issues are salaries and fringe benefits (union demanding 13% per year for the first two years, 1979-80 and 1980-81, and a maximum of 13% for the third, 1981-82, plus fringe improvement—Board offering 5% per year), the grievance procedure (union wanting the discharge of probationary teachers to be grievable/arbitrable—Board wanting specific time limits in which to file a grievance), elementary teacher preparation time (union demanding five hours per week—Board offering two and one-half hours), class size (union demanding reductions in class size—Board wanting limits to remain as they are), preferential interviewing (union wanting laid off teachers from other regional bargaining districts interviewed first for job vacancies—Board not wanting that obligation), and elementary work day (union wanting more specific assignment language—Board wanting present language).

"In a letter to teachers in late July, the Board expressed its appreciation for the teachers' continued service to the district's children and for their continued patience and understanding during this period of extremely difficult economic times. Hope was expressed that the action of implementing the current offer would be of help to teachers during a time of limited local resources and dwindling state support while the Board is struggling to maintain minimal educational programs."

"With the state economy so poor and without substantial increases in local millage, the Board has not had the financial resources to meet teacher union demands. Unable to secure additional operating millage after two tries in March and June, the Board of Education reduced staff by some 72 employees, dropped extracurricular funding, and reduced the school day from six hours to five.

"Even under these circumstances, the Board of Education has tried to do the best it could for its teachers. Over the past two years, the Board has continued to abide by the provisions of the previous teacher contract, adhering to contractual class size maximums, leaving unchanged such provisions as sick time and leave time, and paying incremental salary increases. Fringe benefits have been continued in the face of rapidly rising costs. Full medical insurance coverage has been and is being provided teachers while premiums have increased 25% to 40% this year. Full family medical coverage for a teacher now costs the district $2,500 yearly. Last year the district spent more than $500,000 to provide such protection to its teachers, not to mention the costs of dental insurance, long-term disability coverage, and Workers' Compensation.

"The Board of Education will continue to strive to achieve a compromise settlement of the teacher contract, while maintaining minimal educational programs for the community's children and responsibly managing the operation of the district during very difficult economic times," the release concludes.

sports, or the school orchestra, the cost of uniforms or special equipment to rent or buy must be included in your budget.

Another expense you should budget for are class trips. To help prepare, have your child ask the teacher at the beginning of the semester where and when the class will go going and how much the trip will cost.

Schools often require that children in certain grades have physical or dental checkups, or immunization shots for particular diseases. Find out early in the school year, so that you can consider this in your tax planning. Such routine checkups can be scheduled when it will be most advantageous.

For instance, if your dental and medical expenses this year will amount to more than three percent of your income you can add the cost for any additional checkups to the same year's deductions.

If your expenses won't add up to that amount, you may want to hold off on these additional medical expenses until after the first of the year and include them with next year's deductions.

Besides the school-related expenses, you can help your child budget for things he or she wants during the school year.

For example, if you give an allowance from which school lunches or bus fares will be paid, encourage your child to get into the savings habit by opening a savings account in the child's own name. It will be easier for your son or daughter to make regular deposits if he or she is saving toward something that can be achieved in a reasonable length of time.

It used to be that a child could save for a big-ticket item, like a ten-speed bicycle, and the bike could be purchased for the same price it was when the saving started. With inflation, that may not be true, so you may want to lend your child the money for the bike. Have your child repay in regular installments, either by withholding a portion of the allowance or with job earnings. This is a basic lesson in credit.

Even with the best planning, there are bound to be school-related expenses that come up unexpectedly.

'Open House' lets students show off horticultural skills

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

A lot of planning, a lot of training and a lot of hopes have gone into an open house that will be held this week at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension and Education Center.

For the 37 youths that will be the center of attention, it could mean well-paying jobs. For the four extension employees who have worked with them since January, it will mean the successful conclusion of a horticultural work-study program.

It is only the second year for YICIP (Youth Intensive Conservation and Community Improvement Project), and it already has changed a great deal from the pilot project of 1980.

YICIP works with disadvantaged, low-income teens, providing them with vocational training, life survival skills and employability skills. Last year's pilot project, funded under Title IV of the Comprehensive Training and Employment Act (CETA) was geared to success, using 11th and 12th graders who most likely would go on to jobs. This year's programs is working with teens, many of whom were referred by court probation officers, are from group homes or are in foster care situations.

They work for 40 hours a week and through an incentive raise program, tied into the quality of work, can earn up to $3.65 per hour. Their work is horticultural in nature, and their training area is the 27 acres of the cooperative extension service center.

WCCC satellite program is flourishing

Wayne Community College's Western Region has continued to prosper in recent months with the addition of satellite campus facilities at Belleville and Wayne High Schools.

Along with present locations at Glenn High School in Westland and Milton Vocational Center in Inkster, the college is laying a solid foundation for the opening of its new Western Regional Center slated to open next month.

The new facility, which celebrated its ground-breaking in fall 1978, will be located northwest of the junction of I-275 and I-94 interstate highways on Haggerty Road south of Michigan Avenue.

The Western Center is expected to be a windfall for many residents of the burgeoning western Wayne County area — the State's fastest growing region — who will have higher educational opportunities, including a selection of vocational and technical courses, brought almost to their doorsteps at moderate costs.

Class offerings are scheduled to be divided on a 50/50 basis between traditional liberal arts and voc/tech disciplines.

In the latter category are included seven programs, as follows:

- Diesel truck mechanics,
- avionics technology,
- airframe and power plant mechanics,
- climate control mechanics,
- small power unit mechanics,
- building operations management, and;
- food service management.

The College launched a massive $100 million capital construction program six years ago, and in 1978 opened the downriver campus on Northline Road. This fall the Downtown campus was added to the list of new facilities, and quite suddenly WCC has assumed a significant place in affording educational services at the "grass roots" level in southeast Michigan.

At a recent administrative staff meeting, President Reginald Wilson outlined institutional priorities, making it clear to his employees that the College would ensure "delivery of quality education." He is holding the line on individual staff members and faculty performances in order to promote the viability and integrity of the college.

"We now have the technical and instructional equipment. We have a first-class physical plant," he told his staff, leaving little doubt that as chief executive he would expect peak performances.

Mandating that divisional and departmental heads would be responsible for verifying "measurable goals" among staff members. It was clear among other factors that Dr. Wilson's intention is to create a situation whereby students will be fully assisted in acquiring skills they will require in order to find jobs.

The College is currently implementing a "plan-to-plan" program whose results will be known in January. Performance evaluations, Wilson said, will impact upon compensation levels and incentive provisions.

Wayne Community College may be distinguished from many other educational institutions by the heavy emphasis it has placed on industrial-style management in recent years. It has instituted, among other measures, a college-wide management system called

M.O.S.T. One of the trustees recently remarked that WCC's administrative style should encompass "organizational unity," and that the M.O.S.T. management system contributed to this end.

Dr. Wilson also cites high quality programs as a key. "We have looked to a liaison with urban business, industrial and medical complexes," he said, which have assisted the college in producing well designed curricula and programs. He points out that strategy in launching the new campus will include making available to full and part-time students courses at low tuition rates and establishing flexible scheduling. Additionally, student services such as day care, learning resources and career counseling will be included for the Western Region.

Area students to show off their horticultural skills ing for such things as setting up a budget, how to get legal aid, buy a car or rent an apartment. There is also instruction on personal health care and their rights and responsibilities under the law, a "real biggie," according to program director and administrator Gary Greenwell.

There are four extension employees working with the youths, teaching them horticultural skills, as well as providing counseling. The program is as flexible as the weather is unpredictable, according to Greenwell, who sees his work as providing the youths with feelings of self-esteem, pride in accomplishment and an overall benefit from the experience.

"Most of the kids love it," Greenwell said of the program. "It's the first time ever they've been motivated. Sure, every now and then there's boring work, and every now and then there's long hard work in a hot sun, but we set aside some time for fun."

That time for fun could mean a half hour off during the week to celebrate one of the youths' birthday, and in the long run the program has helped the youths to achieve a higher level of responsibility.

As Greenwell sees it, their motivation has increased; they are expressing interests in trade schools and similar vocational programs; and are planning for the future.

However, the biggest improvement in the youths has been in their ability to problem solve. Greenwell said the group now has a maturity in their ability to solve problems, problems that have included criminal behavior and racial conflicts.

A successful aspect of the work study project has been the decline in criminal activity among the participants. Many of the youths came to the program on the recommendation of probation officers and were "in trouble with the law" at the time they joined YICCP, Greenwell explained.

The instructors also have helped the youths overcome racial tensions that cropped up during the early days of the program, another mark in the success column, according to Greenwell. The group is made up of 60 percent disadvantaged black youths and about 40 percent disadvantaged white youths, which provided for a "lot of tension at first."

YICCP first started out providing vocational skills, but it was expanded to include life survival and employability skills, or as Greenwell sees it: "You can have all the trade skills in the world, but if you don't have the other skills you don't have anything."

Weather permitting, the youths take over the acreage at the education center, tending to demonstration projects, mowing the lawn, caring for the plants and shrubs, spraying for insects and maintaining the small machinery needed in their work.

It will be the work they have done since the start of the program that will be on display. They will be showing off their intensive gardening plots, the different grasses growing and a variety of landscaping designs. There also will be demonstrations on soil mixture and plant care, as well as a slide presentation on the program and a small presentation about YICCP by the staff.

The open house is geared for employers in the horticultural realm of the work world, although apartment complex owners or businesses in need of someone to tend to their lawns and shrubs are equally welcome.

Educational benefits may run out for GIs

Time is running out for approximately 900,000 veterans to use educational benefits of the GI Bill, now in its 37th year.

About one-fifth of the 4.3 million eligible veterans will lose their eligibility for benefits this year, according to the Veterans Administration.

The law permits a veteran to use the education benefits within 10 years following discharge from service, or by Dec. 31, 1989, whichever is earlier.

From June 22, 1944, when the first measure was signed by President Roosevelt, through June 30, 1981, 18 million veterans have received assistance under the GI Bill, at a cost of $51 billion.

About 35 percent of all trainees have been Vietnam Era veterans. This year the GI Bill will assist the education of more than 800,000 Vietnam Era veterans. More than 7.8 million World War II veterans were trained under the original measure, about one-half of all those eligible. Another 2.4 million, or 43.4 percent of those eligible, studied under the Korean plan, and nearly 7.8 million Vietnam Era and Post-Korean veterans and service personnel have thus far participated in the current program.

Some 65 percent of the Vietnam Era veterans eligible have received training.

A new program, which requires financial participation by service personnel, is available for those who entered the military after Dec. 31, 1976.

Veterans who want more information on GI Bill eligibility should contact the nearest VA regional office.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the avionics systems field.

Mallory's wife, Cheryl, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McLaughlin of 9240 Tuttle Mill Road, Willis, Michigan.

New organ dedicated at Michael's

A new organ, the work of a Belleville artisan, was dedicated at St. Michael Lutheran Church, located on the corner of Glenwood and Hannan in Wayne.

Dedication was celebrated at both the 8:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. services.

Charles Fry, of Belleville, a seven year member of St. Michael's built the organ from an Artisan Kit made in the State of Washington.

Fry donated over 2,000 hours during the last 3½ years building and assembling the organ.

At one point there was delay of eight months while waiting for a cabinet to arrive from the manufacturer. He then decided to order one to be built locally by Ernest Miller & Son of New Boston.

The result is a fine electronic organ which embodies the authentic style and tone of yesterday's majestic pipe organs... while incorporating space age electronics to achieve that end.

Fry is a printer by trade and the completion of the Artisan Organ has been a dream come true for him. During his eight month wait for the cabinet he assembled a smaller organ for his home.

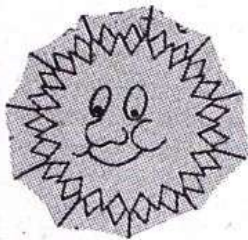

The Artisan Organ is a fully electronic organ that plays any music written for an organ. There are three full keyboards, 71 stops, 32 pedals, 20 speakers, 344 oscillators (separate circuits) and its design simulates a pipe organ.

It is known to be the next closest organ to a regular pipe organ. Artisan Organ Kits have a history of well over 30 years... since the company was founded in 1947 as an outgrowth of the idea that many people would like to own a fine organ... but could not necessarily afford the large expenditure that full-sized organs command. The estimated value of the organ is approximately $33,000 completely put together, however, at this point it has cost St. Michael's about $8,500—a considerable savings.

The congregation of St. Michael's dedicated the organ "to the Triune God... whose great love for us in Christ Jesus inspires us to sing his praises. May this organ always carry out its intended purpose—that of assisting the congregation and choir in worshipping."

'Sparkles the Clown' to appear at Tri-City Assembly of God

Tom Appleba, known as "Sparkles the Clown" professionally, from Belding, Michigan will be conducting a Kid's Crusade at Tri-City Assembly of God, 2100 Hannan Road just South of Palmer Road, beginning Sunday, August 23 through Friday, August 28, according to Rev. E.W. Raimier, pastor.

"Sparkles" is assisted by his family with puppetry, gospel magic, singing, ventriloquism, and a unique blend of children's programs that appeal to all ages. His clowning background began with the State Fairs, carnivals, and amusement parks on the East-coast and the Mid-West. His travels have taken him over a wide area of the country, uplifting hearts and a "Living God".

For more information concerning the Kid's Crusade, contact the Tri-City Assembly, at 721-6832 or 721-0454.

Religion Baptists to hold convention

The first convention of the second century of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc. will be held September 8 through 13 at Cobo Hall in Detroit. More than 25,000 are expected from congregations throughout the United States.

The "Open Door" theme of this convention will emphasize the civil rights struggle and encourage a return to respecting the basic laws of people.

The major address of the convention will be by Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, who has been president of the 6.3 million member group since 1953. He will discuss current domestic and international issues in his annual message on September 10th.

Last year in celebration of the Centennial, Dr. Jackson authored a history of the Convention. A Story of Christian Activism relates the actions of the Convention over the last 100 years to civil rights, political, social and religious happenings in both domestic and world affairs.

Plans for investing a one-half million dollar ($500,000) endowment fund which was initiated last year will be announced. Dr. Jackson attributes the success of the fund "not to the amount of money we handle but how we handle it."

"This is the first time a religious organization has made such a venture. In the past we have usually raised money to pay debts. This money will be used to make money."

SPECIAL MEETING
August 3, 1981

The Special Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, August 3, 1981, at 7:00 p.m.

Members present: Barbara Faler, Doris Roe, Ronald Tocco, Dolores Temple, and David Wertz. Absent: Robert Cook and Connie Brinkerhoff. Also present was Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer.

The meeting was called to order at 7:10 p.m. by President Tocco.

The first item of the agenda, roof repair bids for the Edgemont Elementary School, was discussed by Mr. Ed Randolph, Supervisor of Buildings and Grounds. Upon the recommendation of the Buildings and Grounds Committee, a Trocal roof was chosen as the most economical and best designed roof for the flat roof upon Edgemont School. Noted features of the roof are: A ten-year guarantee, additional insulation, replacement of all old insulation, replacement of any decking deteriorated beyond repair, and rocks to retain roofing in place. Motion by Dolores Temple, supported by Barbara Faler, to accept the bid from Wright Brown Roofing for a Trocal roof at a cost of $98,821.00 plus 10% for replacement of decking if necessary, but not to exceed $108,700.00 with a ten-year written guarantee on all labor and materials to effect water tightness. Motion carried unanimously.

The second phase of the roofing project, also to be secured from the ¼ mill monies of 1980-81 and 1981-82 budget, leaving the ¼ mill balance at 0, is the Vocational Education roof. Mr. Randolph discussed the fact that a conventional shingle roof must be put on the structure because it will not take a Trocal roof. It was recommended that all of the Vocational Education Building roof be replaced except the metal roof which adjoins the body shop. Motion by Dolores Temple, supported by David Wertz, that Milbrand Roofing Company bid for the Vocational Building roof at a cost of $53,955 with a two-to-five-year guarantee be accepted. The Business Office will investigate the advantages of immediate payment of the roofing bills. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Dolores Temple, supported by Barbara Faler, that the Special Meeting be recessed and the Board go into executive session for the purpose of discussing bargaining strategy. Motion carried unanimously. Special Meeting recessed at 8:15 p.m.

Motion by Dolores Temple, supported by David Wertz, that the Board return to the Special Meeting from executive session and adjourn the Special Meeting at 9:40 p.m. Motion carried unanimously.

James Manier, Jody St. Andre exchange vows at St. Anthony's

Double ring vows were exchanged June 27 between Jody Lee St. Andre and James Lee Manier at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Officiated by The Rev. Raymond S. Skoney, the ceremony joined in marriage the daughter of Joseph St. Andrew of Ypsilanti and the son of Edwin Manier of Ann Arbor and Marlene Manier of Belleville.

Music for the occasion included a duet by Betsy Nota and Craig Shoup and organ selections by Rita Clark.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a white peau de soie creation featuring a Queen Ann neckline and bishop sleeves enhanced with Venise lace and seed pearls.

The gown, which cascaded into a cathedral train, was accessorized by a mantilla veil which drifted over the train. A little lace headpiece secured the tulle veil which was trimmed in Brussels lace.

Completing her ensemble was a white prayer book covered with white roses and baby's breath.

Pale blue qiana gowns designed with wrap-around skirts, sleeveless bodices and draped backs were worn by the quintet of bridal attendants: Susette Sherry of Belleville, the maid of honor; Nancy Armbruster, Vickie Manier, a sister-in-law, and Cheri Kirby, all of Belleville, and Joy St. Andre, a sister, of Ypsilanti.

They wore blue ribbons in their hair and the honor maid carried a white basket filled with blue carnations, white daisy mums and baby's breath while the others held presentation bouquets of long-stemmed blue carnations, white daisy mums and baby's breath.

Shanda Armbruster, four, wore a little blue organza frock in the Bo-peep mode for her role as flower girl. Four-year-old Gary Hall Jr. was ringbearer.

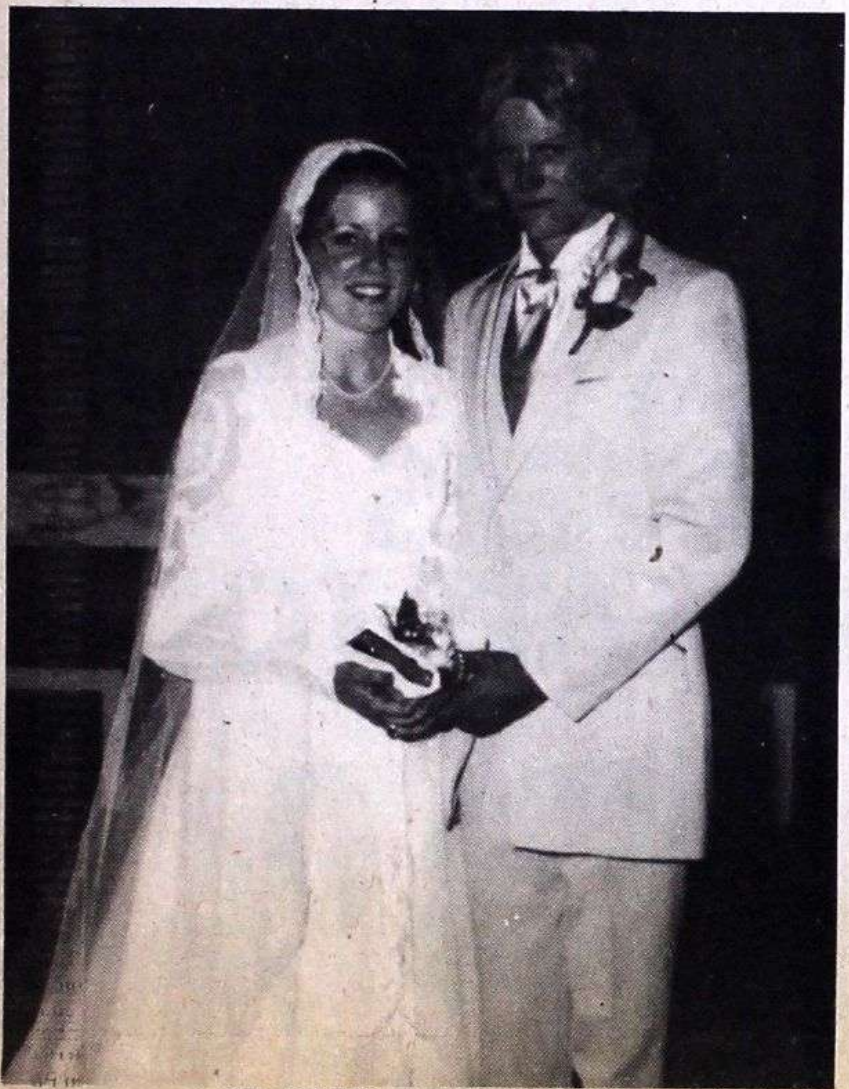

The bridegroom chose his brother, Danny Manier of Belleville, to serve as best man. Others on the esquire side were Gary Hall of Belleville; Joe Armbruster of Ypsilanti; John Kirby of Belleville; and Joseph St. Andre of Ypsilanti, the bride's brother.

The Knights of Columbus Hall in Wayne was the setting for the reception which followed with some 200 guests attending.

Now residing at 1433 Harry St., Ypsilanti, the newlyweds are planning a honeymoon trip to Hawaii in December.

Both young people are graduates of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Manier earning her diploma in 1979 and her husband in 1976. She later attended Eastern Michigan University and will be enrolled in Washtenaw Community College's nursing curriculum this fall. She is employed as store activities representative at McDonald's on Belleville Road.

The bridegroom is employed at Michigan Trenching Service, Inc. of Ypsilanti.

Muskegon church is setting for Wilson-Anderson vows

The Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia formed the honeymoon setting for the newly-wed Richard Henry Wilsons who were away for 10 days before taking up residence at 157 Eddy Dr., Caro.

Vicki Lynn Anderson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Anderson of 1293 Clayton Ave., Muskegon, became Mrs. Wilson in an August 1 ceremony at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Muskegon. The Rev. Robert A. Shackles presided at the double ring rite before some 180 relatives and friends including the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson of 42615 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville.

The processional, to which the bride and her father approached the altar, was played by a trio of violinists: Mrs. Jayne M. Wilson (who also played a solo number), Alfred Cole and Cheryl Lanciaux. Vocals were rendered by Suzanne Kloap.

For her wedding day, Miss Anderson selected a toe-touching white chiffon gown designed in the empire mode with a wedding ring collar and yoke of English tulle and Schiffler embroidery, Venise lace and seed pearling. The lace motif was repeated on the sheer bishop sleeves and cuffs.

Her 2-tiered veil of silk illusion which drifted to fingertip length from a lace Juliet cap was bordered in Brussels lace and frosted with Venise lace appliques. Completing her bridal finery was a petite bouquet of yellow roses, stephanotis, baby's breath and ivy.

As her sister's maid of honor Lori L. Anderson appeared in a spaghetti strap gown of soft yellow chiffon with a flowing cape. She held a nosegay of yellow roses, white daisies, baby's breath and ivy as did the three bridesmaids: Barbara A. Stewart of Farmington Hills; Donna Estlack of Hart and Linda S. Seymour of Battle Creek who were dressed in identical fashion.

Edward O. Wilson of Fremont was his twin brother's best man. Groomsman included Steve Hansen of Geneva, N. Y.; Gary Daroci of Wayne and Jeff Sayre of Belleville. Ushers were Karl Anderson of New Orleans, La., brother of the bride, and John De Marco of Muskegon.

For the occasion, Mrs. Anderson donned a full-length blue chiffon gown while

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD H. WILSON

Mrs. Wilson, the bridegroom's mother, selected a formal blue ensemble. Both were honored with corsages of yellow roses and white daisies.

The Muskegon Lakeside Eagles was the setting for the dinner-dance reception which followed. Host and hostess for the party were Terrie and Gerry Novotny, the bride's sister and brother-in-law.

The new Mrs. Wilson is a 1977 graduate of Mona Shores High School and a 1981 graduate of Michigan State University College of Nursing. A member of Alpha Gamma Delta, Mortar Board Honor Society and Tower Guard, she earned a bachelor's degree in nursing and is now working at Caro Community Hospital.

Her husband, a 1974 alumnus of Belleville High School, holds a bachelor's degree in agricultural economics from MSU where he affiliated with Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and was on the Meat Judging Team. He is currently employed as branch manager and loan officer at Production Credit Association of Bay City in Caro.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at Holly's Bistro at the Muskegon Holiday Inn.

potpourri

By Lee Smith -- Suburban Living Editor

"If you seek a beautiful peninsula, look around you." (Michigan's motto) doesn't mean we're starting off with a travelogue. It just came to mind as I discovered the lead for this week's "potpourri" and equated it with "If you seek an interesting lead story, look around you (the neighborhood)."

Although I wasn't thinking "column" as I observed the goings-on in our rolling portion of suburbia, witnessed another magnificent mother-of-pearl sunset and surveyed the tomatoes B.G. had amassed nearby on the back porch, it was from that very perch I "heard" the suggestion for this missive.

It was the squeal of tires and the groans of a torched clutch that drew my attention to the little black compact which was jerking, whining and charging forth just down the hill. As it convulsed its way ahead, I realized what momentous event was unfolding before my very eyes. The neighbor teen had talked her dad into "teaching her to drive."

At once, vivid scenes, a feeling of deja vu and an affinity for both student and teacher flashed through this conscious. And uppermost was recalling the plaintive warnings of my poor Mother (the fallguy, scapegoat, patsy) to "slow down -- don't ride the center line -- take your foot off the clutch -- don't CUT IN so sharply -- keep your eyes on the road" as she sallied forth into theretofore virgin territory, that of "Driver's ed instructor" -- a title which had yet to be coined. Back then one learned to drive from parents, older siblings or some gutsy pal who'd been handling the pick-up or tractor since he was 10.

Poor Mom! She got ME; I don't recall who risked their lives with the brothers-four. I only know for certain it was NOT our Dad. Although he certainly had the knowledge, he sorely lacked the patience. Neither he nor we relished the "togetherness" which could so easily have led to filicide. You've heard of short fuses? Our Dad was more easily equated with those loaded red strips which once fed cap guns. . . one little nudge and they popped right off.

Therefore, it was left to the lady-of-the-house to see that we knew first from reverse and accelerator from brake. And once -- overestimating the automotive prowess of her daughter -- she made the mistake of giving her the "reins" for the drive to Ypsilanti. The nine miles there were without incident, despite a rather winding route.

Everything was fine 'til they halted for a red light (going north) on Washington Street at Michigan Avenue. The driver, having spotted her best friend on the corner, proceeded (with a mixture of apprehension and bravado) to impress said pal.

More interested in the bystander's reaction than the Ford's mechanism, the "pilot" let the clutch out too suddenly, stalled the vehicle at mid-intersection, re-started and shifted into reverse rather than first (almost colliding with a trailing motorist) and in her panic, held up the east-west traffic for two lights.

It was the first and only time I'd seen my Mother hysterical and the last time she rode "shotgun" with me. Come to think of it, I'm sure it WASN'T Mom who road-tested the boys when they were learning to drive.

HERE WE ARE (again) -- nearing summer's end and bemoaning its pending demise. Just the thought of winter setting in can suddenly chill the hottest of August's offerings.

But when we're able to look out at our gardens, knowing that spring's labors are there for the plucking, it somehow makes pre-September just a bit easier to digest.

And now that we're harvesting those crops for freezing, canning, cooking and sharing, it's time to heed some very good advice from Michigan State University's Information Services. Here're just a few of their suggestions for dealing with the vegetable patch.

-- Keep picking cucumbers, peppers, tomatoes and summer squash to keep them producing.

-- Harvest potatoes after the tops die.

-- Onions for storage should be pulled after the tops turn brown and fall over. Cure the bulbs about a week in a well-ventilated area before storing. Onions for fresh use can be harvested as you need them.

-- Get at those vegetables you planted in July and thin or transplant them.

-- Plant peas, beans, lettuce, spinach, radishes and beets for a fall-haul.

-- And if your tomatoes succumbed to wilt diseases this year, make a note to purchase only wilt-resistant varieties next spring. And, too, remember to plant tomatoes and their close relatives -- peppers, eggplant and potatoes -- where these crops and strawberries did NOT grow this year.

IN AMERICAN, WE AVERAGE OUT THIS WAY --

- Fifteen of every 100 say they've never had a headache.
- Eighteen of every 100 have high blood pressure.
- Twenty-five of every 100 will go a whole year without seeing a doctor.
- One quarter of every 100 women weigh less than 123 pounds.
- Smokers puff 31 cigarettes a day -- that's 11 "coffin nails" per day for every adult in the country.
- We see the dentist once or twice a year with one in 20 needing a tooth pulled and two out of five needing some drilling and filling.

THE BOTTOM LINE: If all the people who sleep in church were laid end to end, they would be more comfortable.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD T. WEBBER JR.

Newly-wed Webbers residing in Texas

Two arrangements of white daisies, yellow carnations and baby's breath graced the altar of the First Pentecostal Church of God July 25 as Lori Ann Miller and Edward T. Webber Jr., both of Jonesboro, La., exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands.

The Rev. Charles Warren Jr. conducted the five o'clock rite which joined in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Webber, all of Belleville.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, the bride was gown in white chiffon with lace forming a high collar over a V-necked ruffled illusion neckline. The lace motif was repeated on the sleeves and cuffs and again on the ruffles which accented a circular chapel train.

She wore a lace-trimmed illusion veil and carried a cluster of yellow and white carnations and white daisy mums.

The duties of maid of honor went to Debbie Bourdeau of Belleville while Mary Lynne Courtney and Cindy Miller, the bride's sister, both of Belleville, and Donna Martineac of Romulus performed as bridesmaids.

The bridegroom asked Ricky Baisch of Belleville to be best man and Bruce Stiltner of Ypsilanti, Greg Webber, his brother, and David Tarrow of Belleville to serve as ushers.

The VFW Hall in Romulus was the setting for the reception which followed.

After a honeymoon trip through the South, the newlyweds made their home in Irving, Tex. where the new Mrs. Webber is employed. Both the bride and bridegroom graduated in 1980, she from Belleville and he from Lincoln High School. He will begin classes at Deury Institute of Technology in October to pursue a degree in electronics engineering.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the Tin Lizzie in Belleville.

For summer

'Easy-does-it' cooking ideas

PEACHES TAKE THE CAKE

Glance at the calendar. There's still plenty of summer left and markets are literally bursting with baskets of fresh peaches. This means one great dessert for tonight's enjoyment.

Time short? Don't worry about baking the traditional shortcakes when you can easily take home a store-bought jelly roll — the beginning of Peachy Jelly Roll dessert. Cut a small jelly roll into ½-inch slices. Spread thawed frozen whipped topping between slices and reassemble on a serving platter. Cut into diagonal slices and serve with sweetened sliced fresh peaches and dollops of additional whipped topping.

Keep an extra jelly roll on hand in the freezer along with a handy container of frozen whipped topping. They're a time-saving dessert team during fresh peach season.

LAYERED PEACHY LEMON PARFAIT

Delicious, easy to prepare and definitely a dessert that deserves compliments. That aptly describes Peachy Lemon Parfait that adds a refreshing note to a meal.

Polka Festival featured

St. Aloysius Parish of Romulus will sponsor a Polka Festival, an annual event, on the Labor Day weekend, Sept. 5, 6 and 7. Activities will get underway each day at 12 noon and continue until midnight.

A chicken dinner from 12 to 6 p.m. Sunday and a spaghetti dinner at the same time Monday will also be part of the festivities.

The band schedule will begin with the "Windy City Brass" from Chicago on Sept. 5 from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight; "Marshal Lackowski and Orchestra" from 3 to 7 p.m. Sept. 6 and "Renata and Girls, Girls, Girls" from 2 to 6 p.m. Sept. 7. From 7 to 11 p.m. the "Canadian Fiddlistix" from Toronto will be featured.

Admission to the dance is $3 per person or $5 per couple.

The location for the festival is 11280 Ozga Road.

Even if you bring home fresh peaches as a last-minute thought, it's comforting to know you can whip up this dessert with just a cup of thawed frozen whipped topping and grated lemon rind. Parfait glasses make it look party-like.

For four servings, fold 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind into 1 cup thawed frozen whipped topping. Layer into 4 parfait glasses with 2 cups sweetened sliced fresh peaches. Chill before serving.

For those who enjoy additional dollops of topping, bring out a small bowl of whipped topping and watch it disappear!

FAMILY-PLEASING SUPPER IS A SNAP!

If your child's idea of a gourmet meal is a hot dog, don't despair! Now the entire family, including the junior members, can enjoy a hearty dinner — with an international touch.

For a complete meal that appeals to your desire to experiment and serve new and unusual food and still satisfies the choosiest little appetites, serve Italian Frankfurters. Bring 1½ cups spaghetti sauce and 1½ cups water to boil in saucepan. Stir in 1½ cups Minute rice, 4 frankfurters, sliced, and 3 slices of process American cheese, diced. Remove from heat; cover and let stand 10 minutes.

The rice, sauce and cheese combine in a blending of flavors that go perfectly with the frankfurters. It serves four — including those "hot dog only" folks!

INTERNATIONAL FAVORITE IS FAMILY PLEASER

Serving ethnic food to your family can be a welcome change of pace, especially when you're faced with that same ground beef once more! Transform plain meat into an exotic international meal by preparing Meatball Risotto. This variation on the standard Italian meatball theme combines beef, rice, spicy spaghetti sauce and cheese for a simple meal that's bursting with Italian flavor.

Shape ½ pound ground beef into tiny balls and brown well in 2 teaspoons butter or margarine. Add 1½ cups spaghetti sauce and 1½ cups water and bring to a boil. Stir in 1½ cups Minute rice and ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes.

The packaged enriched pre-cooked rice is a tasty alternative to the usual spaghetti and absorbs the rich tomato flavor and spiciness of the sauce. Just add a tossed green salad for a tasty meal that serves four.

SANGRIA AMERICANA

Sangria is the ultimate summertime cooler — light, fruity, refreshing. Now here's a version, without the wine, that takes advantage of good ol' American products, with their quality and convenience, and gives you a quick-to-fix drink that's every bit as delicious and refreshing as its Spanish counterpart.

Just dissolve four scoops of Country Time lemonade flavor drink mix in four cups of chilled cranberry juice cocktail in a large pitcher and chill well. Right before serving, stir in one 32-oz. bottle of lemon-lime carbonated beverage. Add fruit, such as lemon, lime, orange or apple slices, and serve over ice

¼ cup apple juice or cider
¼ cup brandy (optional)
Confectioners sugar

Peel, core and chop apples (about 1 quart). In saucepan over medium heat, combine apples, preserves, rind, sugar, juice. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until apples are tender. Cool to lukewarm.

At serving time spoon about ¼ cup of apple mixture onto each crepe; roll. Return crepes to pan and keep warm over candle warmer.

In our opinion

If only all firms were run like PCHA

Recent criticism regarding the operation of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority has centered on that organization's $10.3 million surplus built up during the past two years.

The fact that the PCHA has managed to accumulate excess funds while keeping its 0.4 mill assessment to 24 member communities intact raises an interesting question. How has the PCHA come up with extra monies at a time when red budget ink is flowing in corporate America?

Critics claim that the PCHA has accomplished this feat through large tax assessments when in actuality the added revenues can be traced directly to the effects of inflation. Since its formation in 1945 the tax rate has remained .4 mill-per-thousand of assessed property valuation in these cities and townships.

Of course, more monies have been added to PCHA coffers since property values have skyrocketed in recent years as has nearly every element in our society. Yet, numerous private and public organizations have failed to make ends meet despite higher taxes because rising costs have exceeded rising revenues. Taking in more money obviously does not guarantee success. Just ask the cities of New York and Detroit... or Chrysler Corp... or The Washington Star...

But that's not the case with the PCHA, which operates five hospitals, including Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti. This non-profit organization has managed expansion projects undertaken with its excess funds.

Those who would question administrative costs have the right to do so. As a public, non-profit group of hospitals, the workings of the PCHA facilities are open to taxpayer scrutiny. To waste monies should never be condoned, whatever the status of the budget might be.

Whether or not the PCHA has squandered funds in various frills is open to debate. What might be termed a "frill" by one critic might be considered a "necessity" by another.

What interests us, however, is the PCHA's ability to stay far in the black despite inflation's toll. Maintaining health care units on a fixed tax rate for more than 25 years requires some skillful management techniques. What other tax rates have stayed constant during this period?

None come to mind quickly. Surrounded by deficit spending the PCHA now is drawing some heat for its "surplus" budget. We find the thought of an organization whipping inflation, however, to be highly commendable if not unbelievable.

Having monies to plan expansion work with is a problem any corporation would love to tackle.

Canton county festival

Canton's 6th annual Country Festival broke loose this past weekend with a 3-day spectacular that had people saying: "I'm proud to live in Canton."

It was more evidence that this township is breaking out of its sometimes "negative" shell to become a warm and friendly community.

"It was the greatest event I've ever seen in Canton," said a longtime resident of this community, "and the parade was the highlight of the 3-day weekend."

Thousands of people lined both sides of Ford Road as the township's first parade rolled by with 83 floats and other entries. It is called the largest parade in Michigan outside of J. L. Hudson's annual Thanksgiving Day parade.

More than 1,700 chicken dinners were sold by the Canton Chamber of Commerce, and every other activity, sponsored by civic, fraternal and church groups, reported a large response to their endeavors.

Hail to Canton!

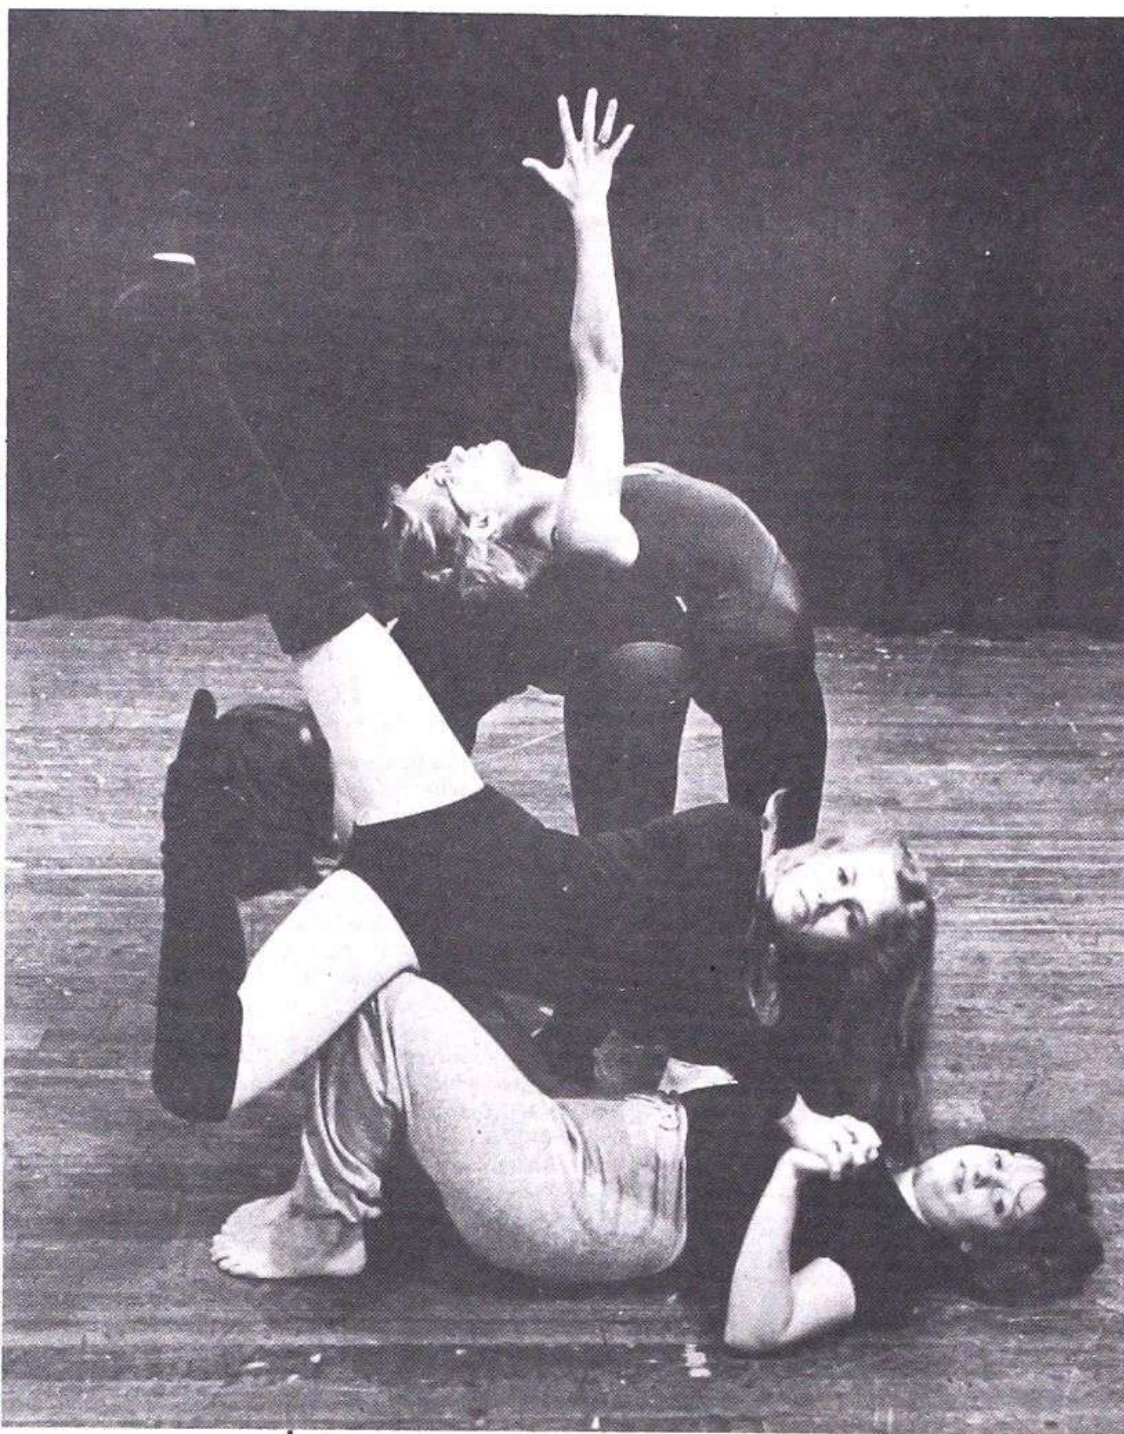

Congratulations to a community that is blooming into full growth and reaching out to meet its vast potential.

Many people have called Township Hall the past three days and said, "The Country Festival and the great parade made me proud to live in Canton."

We echo their sentiments and commend Canton and all its residents for a job well done.

Irresponsible firefighters

A short time ago, people riding by the fire station would look in at the firefighter shining his fire truck or seemingly doing very little to earn his salary, benefits and security, and say "Boy, would I like to have a job like that."

Now, because of poor fiscal management on the executive level, increased racial animosity in the administration against our union, and the so-called city bail-out, some people now seem to be looking in with a different thought in mind. I'm not quite sure why. Perhaps the increased realization that this firefighter will still risk his life without regard to fiscal management, racial lines, or bail-out schemes.

My fantasy to become the fearless firefighter who saves children from the horrors of burning to death, while opinionated TV reporters, with their roving cameras, consider the political rhetoric of irresponsible firefighters, recording every heroic moment, was realized soon after my appointment to this fire department.

I have been seriously injured once, and have had many less serious injuries, which have caused me to reflect about spending another 30 years of public service doing a job many people think isn't necessary or think can be done better with racial quotas, less men, less equipment and less experience.

This job shows you death, pain and suffering in all of its ugly forms! Auto wrecks, industrial accidents, drownings, medical emergencies, arsons, murder cover-ups, etc. It gets harder and harder to leave these tragedies at work when you go home. Many firefighters, knowing this is the most hazardous job in the County, are wondering if it is worth the hassle and price we are asked to pay.

The physical and mental pressures, the hardships of low pay increases (or no pay increases at all), what inflation costs me (the same as it does you), in addition to still not being high enough on the seniority list to stop worrying about being laid off for the second time, are making me take a hard look at my future interests. It is an uncomfortable feeling to be considered part of the fat in this town's budget.

Well people, the next time you go by and see me out in front of the station, stop and see that the main difference between you and I is not the color of my skin, or the love I have for this city and its people; it is the extreme limit to which this love may one day have to be carried out.

Van Buren's Gors commended

The Belle Harbor Civic Association has been trying to obtain 26 additional trash pick-ups per year for the Belle Harbor and Lake Crest Subdivisions. The cost for this additional service, $22.67 per year, is to be assessed to the specific residents and not to the Township.

We wonder why Township official's Welty and Fred Doman would be against such service when, for comparison, the Township currently provides 52 trash pick-ups for the Van Buren Estates at a fee of only $5.00 per year?

The new service will obviously be a money maker for the Township.

We also wish to thank Ordinance Officer Pat Gors for her assistance in resolving a difficult neighborhood problem. However, we understand she is the second Township employee lately to receive a letter of dismissal from an official other than the Township Supervisor. Obviously, someone has a gross lack of regard for the proper chain of command or the termination letter would have had the Supervisor's signature. Let's hope this situation gets resolved soon.

Peoples' right to know

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

One of the absurdities of life is this obsession by some who believe that "the public has a right to know." Especially when it comes to what is supposed to be the crystal clear work of our elected officials.

After all we, the voters, elect them. Put them into office. Pay their salaries. Send them on trips. Give them fringes that only those on fantasy island can enjoy. Surely then we should know what our public servants are up to and are doing.

And, once in a while we show up and ask them a question or two. I feel we deserve a decent answer.

Therefore, it caught us by surprise last week when some members of the Van Buren Township Board refused to discuss... but you tell me what they discussed because some of them didn't know what the item on the table was, and we can't blame them.

The members of the cast include: Township supervisor Patricia Cullin, clerk Doreen Craven, treasurer Tom Welty, trustees Darwin Kureth, Chester Wojie and Fred Doman. Also in attendance is township attorney Richard James. James is speaking:

JAMES—The other matter I have to bring before this board is pending before the Equal Opportunity Commission, and I would recommend that we discuss it in executive session since it is an offer of settlement. If it's the board's determination that we discuss it in executive session, I would think it would be done immediately prior to the adjournment, so we should need a motion at this time.

DOMEN — I would like to move that we turn the settlement offer down.

WELTY — Support.

CULLIN — Does everyone know what the settlement offer is?

TOOHEY — I don't know what we're talking about. I think we ought to go into executive session.

CULLIN — A motion has been made and supported to turn the settlement offer down. The discussion is that some board members do not know what the offer and the settlement is. All those in favor of the motion say "aye".

Then comes the "ayes" and nays.

CULLIN — I vote "nay" because I don't think it's fair that everyone doesn't know (what they're voting about). I think it's bad.

Toohy was the only other trustee to concur.

JAMES — That's the end of my report.

For the record now, can anyone cast a vote on something they know nothing about?

The township has three cases involving discrimination — Marv Banatol is suing because he feels that the township by-passed him for a position on the police force because of his age; Betty Jo Price is saying that she didn't get the police chief's job because she's a woman, and constable Cathy Horste has been to the EOC, charging that she was not offered the full-time police secretary's job although she is fully qualified.

When Doman said "that I would like to move that we turn the settlement offer down," which of the three cases was he referring to?

Is it no wonder people get disgusted with politics and politicians?

Semta take-over of NTA would hurt seniors

EDITOR—Last week you ran a letter from Mr. Leonard Valle concerning the problems facing many senior citizens in our community today.

It appears it is in vogue these days, among politicians and bureaucrats, on all levels of government to cut programs effecting senior citizens.

The Reagan Administration is cutting

Social Security benefits, the Wayne City Council did not include any funds in its 1981-82 budget for the Senior Citizens Service Center mailing and phone expenses, and now we find that our Nankin Transit Authority is being taken over by the Southeastern Michigan Transit Authority (SEM-TA).

I have been informed that when SEM-TA takes over September 30 that the operation will be moved to Taylor, and there will be service cuts to seniors and handicapped persons.

Why is it this locally operated system which was designed to provide public transportation for those with the most need is now about to become unavailable to many.

I have also been told that under SEM-

TA rules the drivers will no longer be able to leave their vehicles to assist seniors and handicappers from their homes and destination to the buses, but will only assist them once they reach the bus doors.

This very fact will stop many present riders who need this type of service. If the communities within the Nankin

Transit Authority move to stop the take over now, it can be put off till July of 1982 and a long look at the type of service we wish to have for our citizens can be made.

For more information on the SEMTA take over and its effects interested citizens may attend a 7 p.m. meeting Thursday August 20 at the Willow Creek Apartment's Club house on Newburgh Rd. between Ford Rd. and Marquette.

It is important we find out exactly what the alternatives are so we may be in the best possible position to provide services to our senior citizens and handicapped citizens.

What's going on in Van Buren?

EDITOR—For the past two months I've been reading the many articles and letters in your paper about the 'goings on' in Van Buren Township. I don't make a habit of speaking out, and I've never done it before, but I sincerely feel that the time has come.

It is obvious to even the most untrained observer that 4 members of the Van Buren Township Board, under the leadership of Thomas Welty, are actively engaged in Empire Building—creating positions for themselves and their friends, bestowing titles on themselves, and most recently, simply ignoring the advice of the Township Attorney and acting like children, thus causing the township to be dragged into court again—in short—wasting even more money than they usually do.

Tom Welty is obviously up to something. If you cross him, you get fired. If you criticize one of his publicity stunts, look out! If you don't buy enough tickets to one of his many fund raisers, you're really on his list. What is he running for anyway? King of Van Buren Township?

My dear old Granddaddy (God rest his soul) had an old saying that seems to apply here: "Absolute Power Corrupts Absolutely." I think the time has come to start thinking about recall petitions.

KATHY McCLINTOCK
Van Buren Township

Huron voter says 'No' to recall

EDITOR—In 1980, the majority of the electorate voted for and elected Mary Lou Carey to be the Huron Township Clerk for the next four years. By doing so, we showed very clearly that we had confidence in her ability to represent our township in all matters that come under the jurisdiction of the Township Clerk.

Furthermore, our vote indicated that we trusted her wholeheartedly to perform the duties of the Clerk's Office efficiently, fairly, unbiased and unselfishly—this she had done. It is inconceivable to me that anyone could doubt the sincerity and dedication that have gone into the performance of the duties of her office. She goes far beyond the regular call of duty.

In spite of this mandate, some "newcomers" to our township circulated a recall petition which resulted in a special election to be held September 14, 1981. This petition was circulated, without regard to the thousands of dollars it will cost the township and, ultimately, all taxpayers of Huron Township; also, with no regard to the wishes of the majority of voters who elected Mary Lou Carey.

By the way, I do not believe these people were registered voters at election time last year.

As an individual with considerable experience in municipal government, I am of the opinion that anyone with a desire to become a township official should first get themselves qualified for the position. This cannot be accomplished in a few months or a year. I assume these individuals think they are capable of taking on the job of township clerk and all that is necessary is just walk into the office, sit down at the desk, and performing the clerk's duties will come automatically. This is far from the case!

Had these people been truly concerned or had any interest in serving our community they should have attended Township Meetings, got involved in various community affairs, got acquainted with their neighbors and become known to other residents of our area.

In this manner, they could have become informed on the needs and every day problems confronting our township. Their problems and those of the township as a whole could have been discussed with the idea that a solution could be found to alleviate these problems.

Incidentally, Mary Lou's door is always open to each and all of us to discuss problems that could happen to any resident of our community. Believe me, I know, I have had to go to her office and it could also happen to you. If you are unable to get to the Township Hall, she is always happy to discuss your problem on the office phone, or after hours, on her home phone.

Evidently, these "newcomers" could not wait to become known to us in a credible and accepted fashion. So, to inflate their 'ego' and let you know they reside in Huron Township the recall petitions were prepared and circulated. By 'hook or crook', the people circulating these petitions were successful in obtaining some 800 signatures that are certified as registered voters. Now, at least 800 voters out of approximately 5200 registered voters are aware that they now reside in Huron Township.

As a citizen and taxpayer of Huron Township, I am concerned about this 'sneak' attack on our Clerk who has the formal education needed to administer municipal government, who keeps herself updated on all current laws relative to local government which we must be in compliance with and has served this community well, unrelentlessly, and 100% dedicated to the needs and interests of this township.

As a concerned citizen, interested in the welfare of Huron Township, I urge every voter to go to the polls on September 14, 1981 and mark their Ballot 'NO'. A majority 'NO' vote will insure that our Clerk's office remains in capable hands and that Mary Lou Carey will be Township Clerk for the duration of the 4 year term for which she was elected.

Looking ahead to 1984, who knows, hopefully, she will decide that her services are needed for another term.

VOTE 'NO' SEPTEMBER 14, 1981.

Get out and vote Sept. 15

EDITOR—In the city of Westland we have about 85%-95% of the voters not voting in our local elections.

As a result, look at where we are at!

Funds for our senior citizens are sucked up by salaries for friends of the administration and not for services for our senior citizens.

Pay vouchers are turned in and paid with little or no questions asked.

And many other areas of mishandling of taxpayers' money go on every year because if you run short of money just go to the people, smile and lie through your teeth and you will get what you want because most of the voters won't turn out and vote!

And you know something, they are right because most of the voters grumble, gripe, and yell their lungs out but won't get off their backsides and do something about it, like vote; yes, that is a very simple way to change things.

Just prove that you're not a dead-head but a voter who will stand up and say "no more of this kind of treatment." GET OUT AND VOTE on September 15 and November 3.

Vandals show disrespect

EDITOR—When we saw the water tower in Belleville finally painted, we were proud.

Why? We're not even residents of Belleville, but our son, Mike, and his friends had enough civic pride to want something to look nice.

It was a job not many would undertake—the preparations alone would have discouraged most people—but they stuck with it and finally the job was done.

But it didn't take long for some "delinquents" to paint their graffiti all over it, and where, oh, where were the police? The residents? Did not someone see this act being done? You can't tell me someone doesn't know who the culprits are who vandalized the tower.

And I say, "Stand up, Citizens, and let them be punished for this act."

Have them put in their time and re-paint it properly and have them or their parents make restitution for this stupid act.

Don't let them get away with it, or this type of violation will continue and who knows what step they'll take next on you or your personal property.

Resident praises Rowe House work

EDITOR—I'd like to commend the persons working through the city-sponsored C.E.T.A. Special Project on the Rowe House. They have done a remarkable job turning a "haunted house" into something respectable.

Your recent article showed the progress being made. However, I must take exception to the remarks made by Charles Pickering "placing the blame squarely on the City's shoulders" regarding delays in the program. The Rowe House sat on its skids for 2 years on its present location without any work being done on the house or the surrounding area.

Was this because they did not have a permanent site or because fund raising efforts, such as the run for Rowe House, were poorly organized and did not raise sufficient funds to begin work on the project?

The lack of a permanent location or insufficient funds to begin restoration are not excuses for the slipshod manner in which the property surrounding the Rowe House were maintained for the past two years. Being a frequent visitor to other city and school facilities in the area, I had to "fight" my way through rodents, reptiles, and other creatures to walk down Marquette Road.

During the 2 year period in which it sat, I can remember the grass being cut on only two occasions. Numerous letters were written to Mr. Pickering asking him to remedy the situation. What an eyesore!

So let's give credit where credit is due and place blame where it belongs. The City Administration and Council have acted, by placing C.D. funds and C.E.T.A. workers on the job, responsibly in eliminating an "eyesore" to the community — placed there by a private group.

Had it not been for these actions, the Rowe House would still be on its skids, in 3, 4, or 5 pieces. Blame should be placed on the shoulders of the members of the W.W.A.A. for their failure to adequately "plan the future" of the Rowe House and for insufficient organization in their fund raising efforts.

Finally, while the Rowe House may make an attractive cultural addition to our community, I now question its historic value. In watching construction of this building, over these months, I estimate that, over 50% of the building is now "new" materials and supplies with, to me, no historical value whatsoever.

Dear editor, insincerely yours

EDITOR—To answer the question about what to do with the old, Belleville water tower, several possibilities come to mind:

1 — Put a revolving restaurant on top, and to revive an old name call it Bel-HI.

2 — Put a dome on top and rent it out as an astronomical observatory.

3 — Put floors, doors and windows in the tank and rent as apartments.

4 — Convert it into a battery. The bats would then rid the city of mosquitoes.

5 — Brew a big batch of beer in the tank. Sell the beer for 40¢ per bottle thus eliminating city taxes.

6 — Take bets on the date that it falls over.

7 — Take bets on the direction it falls.

8 — Spend $25,000 to patch up the relic then stand back and admire it for 25 years.

Insincerely,

Northland was not site

Editor—Our first reaction at the news of the tragic death of a young woman stabbing victim was outrage at the act and deep sympathy for her, her family and friends.

Our second reaction was anger that Northland Center was mistakenly identified by the Detroit Free Press Tuesday morning, August 11, as the scene of the tragedy.

That error has inflicted needless fear and anguish on hundreds of employees of Northland Center merchants and on their tens of thousands of customers, even though the Free Press reported the following day it had made a mistake. The paper reported August 12 the stabbing actually occurred in a parking lot on Northland Drive west of the Lodge Freeway, a quarter-mile away from the Center itself.

Radio and TV reports also were corrected after the first round of newscasts had already spread the false word. Unfortunately, because of the nature of the news business, the false story had an eye-catching headline and the correction next day was easy to miss. Many of the listeners who heard the false reports or early radio newscasts didn't hear the later corrections.

We don't know whether or not your publication was caught by the untrue report but we'd appreciate your help in correcting the false impression still held by many Detroit area readers and listeners.

You can help by printing this in your letters column.

Reflections

Dog-gone you anyway, George

One day last week I was speaking at a luncheon meeting in my home town and it had come time for the question and answer period. I took a sip of water and prepared to be knowledgeable and informative as the questions were hurled towards me. One hand rose tentatively and then lowered. I turned inquiringly towards the woman, but she shook her head. I took another sip of water, and the hand went up again, slowly and hesitatingly.

I nodded towards her and beamed my most encouraging smile.

"Well," she said, and then stopped. Trying again she swallowed hard and blurted out, "This has nothing to do with what you were talking about, but how is George?"

George, you remember, is our dog, who, in his younger days, terrified the neighborhood with his big, long teeth and his jumping around and leaping at people.

That dog had real personality, even if he cost us a bundle having to appear in court and all that, every-time he tried to eat up someone's poodle. George hated poodles, which just goes to show you that there is bigotry in the doggie world, too.

And then over a year ago George got into the driver's seat of his master's Pinto which was fastened to a U-Haul, and left us.

Naturally, we all cried a lot, and I had a hard time getting used to not having a living footstool under my feet at dinner time, but George was happy at the Air Force base in Mississippi, and since he was growing older, most of his adventures occurred in his trips to dreamland.

His pilot-master then took him out to California, where that dog seems to have regained a bit of his youthful zest, tempered with the wisdom of his years, and the letter which came yesterday said that George is sassy and healthy and terribly happy for the neighbors think he is hilarious in the way he lets himself out the front door and strolls through the courtyard in great dignity.

He is in doggy heaven, for most of the other dogs in the complex are female and young and full of energy.

... almost spastic. George struts past them as though he has something to offer to the one who can calm down enough to recognize his uniqueness.

After his morning stroll he goes back into the house, stretches out on the floor and falls asleep, which is probably just about par for the course for an old dog.

There were pictures in the letter, too, and the kids who are still at home, and the grandchildren, poured over the pictures, murmuring, "Ah, Pookie (their name for George) ... ah, Pookie, do you miss us?"

Our youngest cradled one picture in her arms and rocked it back and forth, while humming a little tune as to how lonely she was for Pookie-Dog.

It occurred to me as I stood watching them, that that dog was one lucky dog the day he was carried into the elementary school as a few-days old pup, and the principal picked him up and carried him from room to room asking what kid had a mother who would welcome a new-born puppy.

And my kid raised his hand, and together with his little sister, came racing home, the puppy in his arms, with its doggie ears flopping in the breeze.

Naturally, I said "no", but the two little kids stood there, eyes pleading, and the puppy lifted its baby face and what could a mother do?

The nights that followed were hectic, for that baby cried and cried, finally ousting me from my bed, forcing me to pick it up and in the rocker which had rocked six babies to sleep, rocked that puppy, until at last, he would sleep.

His main diet as he grew a bit older were shoes and sofa's and table legs, but he soon grew to taking big chunks out of people and other dogs. However, he had that charm, that utter charm, which made one forgive him most anything. Except none of the neighbors ever agreed with me on his charm, so it is comforting to know that now, in his old age, he is truly admired for his personality.

Yes, George (our dog) is doing great and he wants to thank all of you who have written to me, or who have stopped me on the street, and particularly the little lady at the luncheon meeting, who have asked after him. George, (our dog) loves you, and so do I.

MONA GRIGG

wringer sets at the other end. (I looked for three years for a working antique hand wringer and I couldn't be happier with it than if it were a top-of-the-line Maytag.)

When we run out of clotheslines, we spread things on the bushes to dry and it looks like the White Tornado raced through our yard.

Now mind you, I am not so enamored with the whole thing that I would want to give up my city washer and dryer, but up here it seems like the thing to do. Besides, it beats spending even a few hours of precious vacation time in a steamy laundromat.

So, if you will excuse me, I will finish this column, which at home is diversion but up here is work, to do the laundry by hand, which at home would be work but up here is diversion.

Or something.

Mona Grigg

Diversion in North woods

Well, it's finally happened. For two days now, I've wracked my brain trying to think of something to write about. If I were at home, I would simply open my file drawer and look through the bulging file marked "Ideas". In it are articles and columns and letters and brochures and pamphlets on subjects ranging from Ice Cream to Isosceles Triangles. It's never failed me yet.

Unfortunately, my "Ideas" file is at home and I am here at Pickerel Lake.

The thing about Pickerel Lake is that while there are hours and hours of empty prime time to fill, with none of the hustle and bustle of city life, there are also hours and hours of diversions.

I should know better than to try to write up here.

The kids yell, "The Canada Geese are here!" and the siren call is too much. There are nine of them this morning, standing at the waters edge, waiting for their breakfast of chunks of bread.

It would be nice to think that we were saving them from starvation, but the truth is, our cottage is just one of many stops around the lake. They are even getting picky and prefer homemade bread to store-bought. The homemade must have done the trick yesterday, because here they are, all nine of them, back again.

At night, just at dusk, the ducks come. A mother and three offspring. The children are as big as the mother, and the only way we know which is the mother is by her attitude. She is clearly the boss. She lets them know when it is time to leave by swimming away and coming back again. As she swims away the second time, they follow. No questions asked, no arguments. Must be nice.

I wish I could tell you what kind of ducks they are—then you would think I really knew my stuff up here in the North Woods.

But the truth is they aren't listed in any of our bird or wild-life books, so I'm stuck with "brown ducks".

There is a wide blue-green band almost under the wing and they have a long drake-like bill, which should be identifying enough, but at this moment I am stuck.

I would ask our biology-teacher neighbor, who has been known to give very good lectures (or so I'm told) at the nearby nature center, but she blew it last year when she mistook a common, garden-variety snake for a rattler. It is too bad, but her word is no longer law.

Then there are the blackberries. The blackberries require almost constant attention because the bushes you stripped clean of ripe ones in the morning will magically ripen a new batch by evening.

It becomes a frantic game after awhile, trying to stay one step ahead of the other berry pickers. Our ultimate goal is enough berries to fill a pie shell. We have never made it. In fact, we rarely make it home with even a fourth of our bounty. Berries are for eating—what can I say?

After dinner the wind dies down and the lake is like glass. It is time to row out and look for turtles. The game here is to catch them with our net and say "Hello"—then let them go again. We caught one the other day with initials carved into its shell. Who would do such a thing? Do the other turtles still accept a turtle with carvings on its back? Things to ponder as the sun goes down.

But today the sun has promised to shine all day, and we are getting ready to do the laundry. The galvanized washtub and the scrub-board set at one end of the picnic table while our spiffy "Anchor Brand" hand

More than a field

Fair Haven's softball diamond draws deserved raves

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

Gazing out towards centerfield on a sunny Monday morning, Rev. Paul Heady sees more than a softball field.

He knows that the plush sod, new fences, steel enforced backstop and even the infield dirt represent the spirit of a small (80 members) congregation at Fair Haven Baptist Church. Yes, this baseball diamond is the turf on which dreams are built.

"We started out with an architectural sketch and a bunch of us rummy farmers more than a year ago," recalled Heady, giving an impressed visitor a tour of the Fair Haven Field, located on Marquette just east of Wayne Road in

Westland. "I told our members, 'I've got a shovel, rake and saw—if you want to build a diamond with me, let's do it.'"

Oh, how they did it. Nearly a half acre of trees were levelled and roots pulled from the ground. Six and four-foot high fence was put up and a well dug for a sprinkling system. Those so called "rummy farmers" also laid 6300 yards of sod, then helped raise $4,500 to cover the cost through a church bikeathon last spring.

The final result? Those countless hours of grime and sweat have produced one of the finest softball fields in the entire state, a showpiece that prompts nearby motorists to pull off the road for a closer look.

"Those people did a super job," complimented Mike Gouin, Canton parks and recreation director and a former pro softball player. "The condition of their field is nicer than most the pros are accustomed to playing on."

Fair Haven Field features a sodded infield and outfield with a six-foot fence situated 275 feet from home plate, fronted by a warning track. Twenty-six foot high foul poles are located along each line while an 18-foot high backstop keeps foul balls in the park. Indoor-outdoor carpet lines the seats of the bleachers and players' benches.

Wooded areas outside the first and third base lines provide a picturesque setting for softball. Over the left-centerfield fence sits the pastor's home.

"My bedroom window is 340 feet from home plate—anyone who hits it is out for the season," Heady joked. "We're still working on the field, things like building a platform for our scoreboard and official scorer. Eventually we'd like to add lights and convert the surrounding land into a picnic area."

"Somebody asked me about putting on a dome," the pastor said, laughing.

In its first season the park has seen its share of activities, including competition involving a 10-team Baptist Fellowship League which plays a series of doubleheaders at the site. A Labor Day tournament for 20 church squads is also scheduled (contact the parsonage at 729-4793 for entry information).

"This gives us a chance to fellowship with other churches," remarked Heady. "It's brought people closer together. Everybody enjoys playing here—our big four of Alan Brackett, Jeff Bradley, Craig Bradley and Terry Bradley do an excellent job of maintaining the field."

Heady himself gets in on the act. "I'm a bench warmer, I carry the water," he explained.

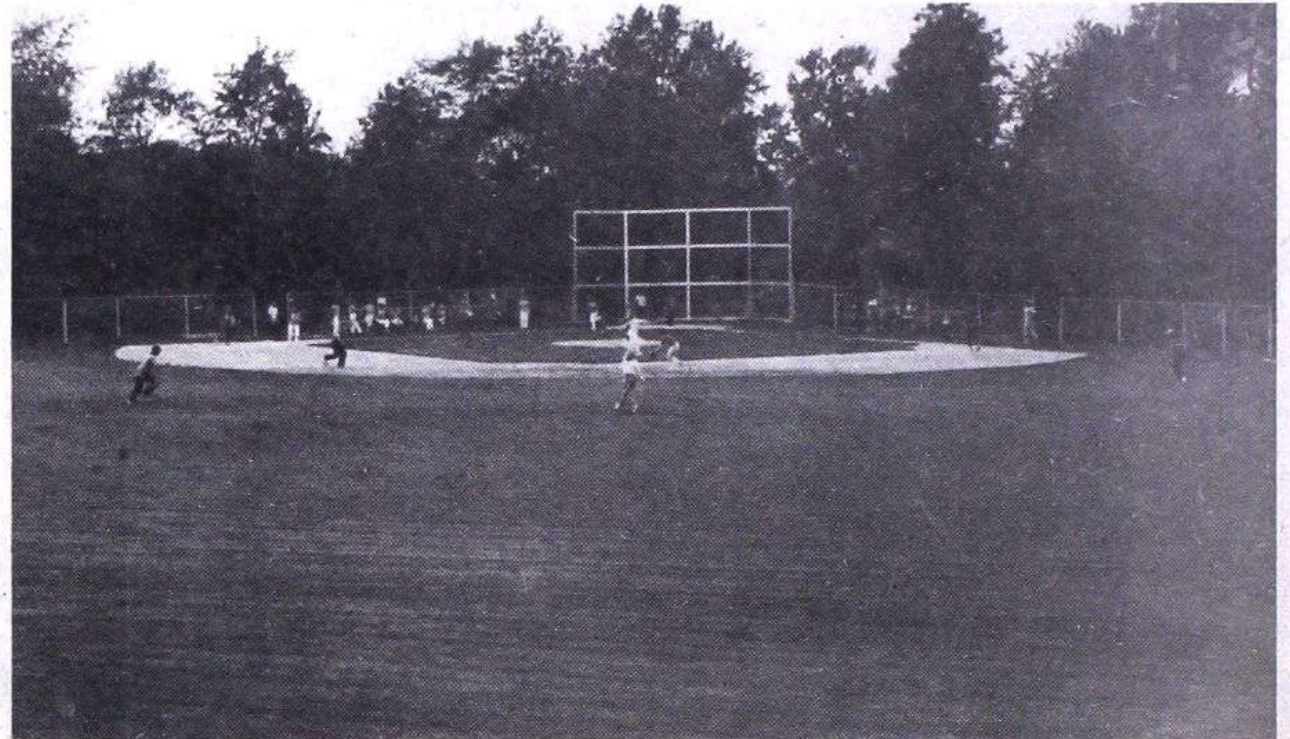

Parks and recreation officials have estimated that the building of a field comparable to Fair Haven's would cost in excess of $30,000 today. Using volunteer labor and the aid of such industrial contacts as Dick Skinner of Grosse Ile and others, the Westland congregation completed its efforts for approximately $11,000.

"This field is positive proof that when a few people set out to do something first class for the Lord," said Heady, "they can do it. I'd like to see the park and the surrounding area become a family center where people can rally around the church. This is only a start."

The pastor walked slowly past the left-field foul pole, turning his attention to the nearby church, located just east of the softball field. It was time to conclude the tour of Fair Haven's newest pride and joy.

"Some think you can tell the best churchgoers by the size of the bible they carry," Heady declared in parting. "But it's the person who picks up the gum wrapper off the ground or the person who cleans up without complaining."

"Those are the people you build ballfields with. Those are the people you build churches with."

Softball fields, such as the eye-opening one located near Fair Haven Baptist Church in Westland, just don't happen. Members of the Fair Haven congregation toiled for more than one year to construct one of the state's finest fields, equipped with new fences, sodded infield and outfield, an 18-foot high backstop and bleachers. Members of the congregation are shown laying sod, a project financed through a benefit bikeathon held by the church.

Go-Go's show Ann Arbor some 'Beauty and the Beat'

"Beauty And The Beat" (I.R.S.)

At first glance, the Go-Go's may appear to be nothing more than this year's Runaways (remember them?). A better look proves they are no mere novelty act to be pawed at by drooling pubescent boys not old enough for Pat Benatar, but rather a fine rock 'n' roll band with all the necessary ingredients: singing, musicianship, and songwriting, all done up right.

Together for just over three years, the Go-Go's have come a long way fast, even having an English hit single behind them ("We Got The Beat," which was re-recorded for inclusion on the album). And one glance at the album cover will tell you they didn't work their way up by capitalizing on their good looks; a picture of the five girls with towels on their heads and mudpucks on their faces — not exactly pin-up material.

No, these girls did it the hard way, on talent alone, and it shines through the grooves of "Beauty And The Beat" brightly, with hit after potential hit pouring through the speakers.

The LP's first single was "Our Lips Are Sealed," and while it's a good song and all, I feel that "We Got the Beat" would've been a better choice, as it's just about the perfect pop song.

"See the people walking down the street
Fall in line just watching all their feet
They don't know where they wanna go
But they're walking in time
They got the beat"

Not poetry I agree, but wrapped around an irresistible pop-charged riff it sure seems like it.

Other standout tracks include "How much more," which features the great line "She's looking good/Just like I would/If it could be me," "Lust To Love," which is self-explanatory, and an ode to the girls hometown of Hollywood titled "This Town," which I thought highlighted their set last week at Ann Arbor's Second Chance.

While all the members are more than able on their instruments, two stand out: guitarist Charlotte Caffey, who combines Suzanne Sommers' looks with some great axe-work, as well as writing most of the material. The other is vocalist Belinda Carlisle, who showed me some fantastic stage presence up in Ann Arbor, as well as some dynamic pipes. Ahem...

They got the beat, so I suggest you get the beat. Beauty and the beat.

Huston stresses character development in 'Victory'

"Victory" From Paramount Pictures. Directed by John Huston. Written by Evan Jones and Yabo Yablonsky. Starring Sylvester Stallone, Michael Caine, Max Von Sydow, Pele, Rated "PG."

By J.T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

Knowing that Pele is one of the stars of this film should tell you that the story will have something to do with soccer. And when Pele plays soccer, the word "Victory" is not far behind.

The same can be said of teammate Sylvester Stallone, currently the world title holder in the cinema boxing ring (or at least until "Rocky III" anyway). Put them along with Michael Caine and others on a soccer team, place them in a prisoner of war camp during World War II, pit them against the German National team and you have "Victory."

It's the good guys against the bad guys, with the battlefield now a soccer field, and the victory weighed only in terms of propaganda.

Director John Huston has had many victories of his own, not in the boxing ring but at the box office, as his films date back as far as 1941 with the classic "Maltese Falcon" starring Humphrey Bogart. Stories of male camaraderie such as this or the recent "Man Who Would Be King" are his forte. In "Victory," he makes the most of the situation, stressing character development in the hour or so that precedes the soccer game the audience is waiting for.

The story itself seems culled from a number of other films, ranging from "The Great Escape" to just a touch of "MASH" to more than a little of "Rocky." The prisoner of war camp in the film has nearly the resources of Stalag 13 from "Hogan's Heroes," although Max Von Sydow is certainly no Colonel Klink.

Stallone plays Stallone here, perhaps not with so heavy a Philadelphia "Yo. Pauli" accent, but those sad eyes contrasting with the broad muscular shoulders make him a huggable underdog. As the coach of the team, Michael Caine delivers the best performance of the film, matching wits with Sydow while trying to assemble a rag-tag team of POW's to match the best of Germany.

Totally believable the film is not, but this is not a film you vote for, it's a film you root for. And one slow-motion shot of a Pele scissor kick is enough to make you stand up and cheer.

Sylvester Stallone is right at home.

Bo Derek is exploited in 'Tarzan'

Bo Derek wastes talent in this big cinematic joke

"Tarzan — The Ape Man" From MGM/United Artists. Directed by John Derek. Produced by Bo Derek. Starring Richard Harris, Bo Derek and Miles O'Keefe. Rated "R."

By STEVE WALZ
Special to Playtime

Usually I get to review the studios' major releases at advanced screenings in New York City. For this so-called "motion picture," I was invited to sit in on an exclusive screening for all the Hollywood critics and big-shots at MGM Studios in Culver City, California.

An overflow crowd witnessed one of the biggest jokes in cinematic history when "Tarzan — The Ape Man" was unraveled before their unbelieving eyes.

This remake of the original Edgar Rice Burroughs story of a man who rules the jungle, borders on soft-core porn, headlining Bo Derek as Jane with Miles O'Keefe showing off his great physique, and nothing more, as Tarzan.

In fact, John Derek filmed much of this movie as if it were a magazine layout for Bo. Coincidentally, the blue-eyed bombshell is featured in the current issue of Playboy magazine, photographed by, who else? — John Derek.

Bo claims that she felt cheapened by her bathtub romp in "A Change of Seasons." Well, I've got news for you, Bo. Many of the critics who saw this film at MGM felt so cheapened by your rnamary displays that they were literally talking back at the screen, yelling for you to put some clothes on.

Mrs. Derek, when given the proper dialogue to work with, can put almost all of Hollywood's 'buxom blondes to shame. But it would seem that John just doesn't intend to let any of us see her burgeoning abilities any time soon. What a waste!

Redford rides off with Memorial softball trophy

Greg's loses Anderson Memorial Tourney to Carriage

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

Redford Carriage House used four All-Tournament players — including Home Run King and Most Valuable Player Andy Sobrowski — to sweep five straight games and win this year's prestigious Leon and J. Anderson Memorial Invitational Slow Pitch Softball Tournament last week.

The undefeated kings, who defeated surprisingly tough Greg's Emergency Room of Wayne 10-4 in the title game, used a vis-a-vis defense to win the free-swinging battle of the softball giants.

In rolling past 16 of the top teams in Western Wayne County, Carriage Hills beat Detroit Trailblazers, 5-3 in their opener, bonbed Drake's Lounge, 16-3; edged St. Clair Shore's Locker Room, 11-7; and then took Greg's twice, 7-1 and 10-4 to win the Anderson Memorial Trophy.

were pitcher Ron Suder, and Andy Sobrowski, shortstop Chris Priebe and outfielders Sobrowski and Blake Bernstein.

Suder allowed less than four runs a game and was potent with the bat. Sobrowski hit three homeruns in five games over the 300-foot fence and was named the best player in the series. Bernstein carried the hottest bat, rapping the ball at an .833 clip for highest batting average.

Priebe performed like a Hoover Vacuum Cleaner to sweep up many grounders to be named the best at that vital position.

Greg's Emergency Room (it's a lounge located near Wayne County General Hospital) did an outstanding job and was propelled by outfielder Dean Minton, second sacker Ron Reid and catcher Keith Drake, who were all-tournament selections.

Rounding out the All-Tournament Team were Tom Guilfoyle, of Westland Metro Merchants, the Home Run Deby Champ with 7 out of 10 over the 300-foot fence; of Westland Metro Merchants, the Home Run Deby Champ who hit 7 of 10 pitches over the 300-foot fence in the contest; Jerry Holbrook, designated hitter for Johnson's Carbonic of Wayne; and first baseman Dave Schultz and third sacker Doug Fowler of Shore Locker Room of St. Clair Shores.

"We had a big turnout at the Anderson Softball Invitational this year with many fans coming out all weekend long," said Director Larry Quartuccio. "I would say that during some of the games we had as many as 400 spectators watching at one time."

"This tournament is growing each year and is starting to attract ball players and their families from all over the metropolitan Detroit area. We are finding fans from all over the communities, who have no friends or relatives in the tourney, coming out to see some of the finest ballplayers in the area," Quartuccio said.

As far as local talent goes, Greg's Emergency Room upstaged its perennial jinx, Johnson's Carbonic, who took the Wayne Men's Class A regular season title ahead of Greg's. However, Johnson's Carbonic, managed by Quartuccio was ambushed by Pittman's Installation of Wayne, 11-7, in the opener and later lost to Metro Merchants of Westland to be knocked out of the double elimination series.

Riches Raiders of Westland got the tournament off to a flying start by saddling Redford Little Bill's Trophies, last year's Anderson Tourney champion, with a 5-3 loss. Pitcher Russ Gartha hurled a tremendous game, giving up only seven hits while his teammates garnered 11 off loser Red Powell.

Bob Forgely, with three singles, and Jeff Puzzuti, with two singles and three RBIs, paced the Raiders' attack. The winners pecked away with single runs in the second and third before overcoming a 3-2 deficit with three big runs in the 6th frame. For Little Bill's, Craig Forhan's single and homerun, and Dan McManamon's single and double ruined Gartha's bid for a shutout.

Star Optical of Wayne had the misfortune of playing Wayne's top two teams — Greg's Emergency Room and Johnson's Carbonic — in its first two games. Optical had fuzzy vision after Greg's shelled them, 13-3, and Johnson's ousted them from the tournament, 12-4.

Greg's started its trophy pursuit by rapping 23 hits in the 13-3 victory over losing hurler Vic Mumiak. Joe Kadlec, meanwhile, blurred Optical's chances by scattering seven hits and allowing just three runs in the game, all in the first inning.

Keith Drake, who had four hits in the game, socked a 3-run homer for Greg's in the fourth to snap a 3-3 deadlock and send the "ER" men on their way. Dean Minton rapped two doubles and a single and Bob Eggars lined three singles for the winners. Kevin Morine picked up two solid singles for Star Optical.

In Johnson's rout of Star, Dick Deck led the way with three doubles and a single that produced four RBIs. Dave Conlin connected for two doubles and a single and Bill Hughes added three one-basers.

Pitcher Dennis Cowell scattered nine Star hits and allowed two runs in the second and two more in the 7th. Mumiak, with two singles, helped his own cause, and Steve Morris rapped a single and double.

Greg's was the hottest local squad, winning three games before running into the eventual champ, Redford Carriage House, and suffering a 7-1 loss. Ron Suder silenced Greg's bats almost entirely, holding them to seven hits and a lone run in the 6th. Keith Drake and Ron Reid solved Suder's slants, however, each going 2-for-3.

'Diamond' is girl's best friend

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Kim Schwartz, a vivacious 20-year-old blond, is the attractive young lady with the athletic prowess. And she is very shy.

She blushes a pretty crimson when people discuss her ability on the softball field. In fact, it took a team of horses (and friend Connie Dotson in Associated Newspapers' front offices) to reveal many of the awards won by Kim.

I had heard that Kim was a "pretty good" softball player and Saturday evening my wife and I were driving past Westland Jaycee Park when we saw young women dressed in various colored uniforms.

It was the 8th annual 24-team Women's Invitational tournament sponsored by the Westland Athletic Officials Association, headed by George Gillies, a well-known sports official in these parts. We pulled into the crowded parking lot off Wildwood Street and found the last vacant parking spot. As we started walking to the nearest field, a car came driving past and a voice yelled, "Hi, Jim!" Looking around, I saw Kim's smiling face (she always seems to be smiling) as she came riding up with a teammate.

We didn't even know she was playing that night, we had just stopped to see some softball played by women. And what action we saw. We were really impressed with the talent and ability of these young women and how hard they hit and throw the ball.

Kim and her teammate, Lynn Putnam, dressed in their burgundy, white and gold All-Star Pro Shop uniforms, hurried by on their way to a 9:15 p.m. game. Since we knew Kim, who we met a couple months ago when she came to work here, we ambled over to where they were playing.

That was the only game we got to see of last weekend's 3-day tournament, which was won by DAPCO of Dexter, Mich., a group of talented women who won this tournament just about every year. The only recent year they didn't win it was in 1979 when Big Bill's won it and Kim Schwartz of the champion team was named Most Valuable Player of the tournament.

All-Star Sport Shop finished third this year, Johnny's Shell, another local group of outstanding women athletes, took DAPCO into extra innings in the championship game before losing a heart-breaker. Local stars named to this year's All-Tournament team were Kim, Lynn Putnam and shortstop Mary Creech of All-Star Sport Shop, pitcher-first baseman Renee Burnie, shortstop Ann Kolnits and outfielder Dottie Davis of Johnny's Shell.

Kim Schwartz has made the all-tournament squad three of the four years she's played. But that, I guess, is really not "news." She's been a good athlete all her life — playing softball, basketball and gymnastics at Wayne Memorial High School before attending Central Michigan University the past two years. She recently was hired to coach at Adams Junior High School in Westland.

Kim was active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes while in high school and seems to embody all the positive traits that are attractive in young people. Seeing her pleasant, smiling personality each day brightens up this entire office. If she is a typical example of our young people today, our future is really in good hands.

Westlander kicks with the pros

By LARRY O'CONNOR
(Special to ANP)

When hard times hit, people have to do what is commonly called "moonlighting". But, for Express forward Ken Hammond, it's not the lack of income that makes him work an additional job, it's the love of soccer.

At the end of a hard days work as an engineer at the Dearborn Ford Plant, the 5-9 resident of Westland turns in his blue collar shirt for an orange and black one of the Express.

"It is not that difficult to handle both," Hammond said in a low tone manner that he is noted for. "I feel I'm very capable of doing both, but not being able to practice with the team hurts me a lot."

If it does, it certainly is not evident on the field as Hammond keeps Express fans on their feet with his fancy ball work and blazing speed. So far this season, the fleet footed Jamican has two assists in just 300 minutes of play.

"I'm a ball handler," Hammond stated quickly. "I have not had the chance yet to play an offensive role with the Express this season. If I'm lacking one thing, its coordination with the team," he added, getting back to the nemesis of not being able to practice with the team regularly.

Hammond's background is unlike most soccer players. He did not graduate to the professional ranks right out of college. Instead, he stayed in school and concentrated on becoming an engineer. At the New Jersey Institute of Technology, he was an All-American in 1977 and played for their soccer team in all four of his years there.

Drafted by the Ft. Lauderdale Strikers in 1977, Hammond turned down their offer to turn pro and stayed in school. He moved to Detroit soon after graduating and tried out for the "old" Detroit Express of the NASL.

"Ken Furphy, the coach, was very pleased with my performance," Hammond recalled, "but, I was not an American citizen at the time."

No longer does Hammond need to worry about that as just last month, he became an American citizen after months of waiting.

"Becoming a US citizen is something special in itself, but now it means that I will be able to play ball," he said.

Citizenship entered into the reason that Hammond had seen only spot duty in the early part of the season for the express. Since the American Soccer League has a rule that states there must be seven Americans on the field at all times, he found himself more on the bench than on the field.

With the soccer stars

"You can only do so much by yourself," he explained. "I have to keep up my physical fitness on my own and work with the ball as much as I can. But, you have to be in game situations, or you could stick out like a sore thumb."

As soon as he became a citizen, Express Coach Brian Tinnion started Hammond in the team's next game. He responded by adding an assist and showing more speed than the days when Trevor Francis roamed the field.

"He is one, of if not the quickest player, on the team," Tinnion said. "His ball handling skills are top notch. I can't understand why he has not played professional, before," he added.

Being a resident of the Detroit-area, Hammond lives in the city of Westland, a suburb west of Detroit. He can be found shopping at Westland, or watching a local soccer game in neighboring Canton Township.

"I really like Westland," He said. "It's a lot cleaner than some places, it's very quiet and I get a feeling of safety there."

Hammond, a registered United States Soccer Federation (USSF) coach, is looking for a possible coaching position when the season is over. "I would really like to coach a high school team, or something like that," he said. "I think soccer, I given the room to grow, can really take off in this area."

He will have to wait while for the season to end as the Express look bound for post-season play. The city of Detroit will have its first pro sports team to make the playoffs since 1979.

"I think we can win it all," Hammond said without a sound of doubt in his voice. "I really enjoy the fans. I wish there were more, but the ones we have are 'truly' fans."

The fans enjoy Ken Hammond.

Playoffs

Title hopefuls need one victory

The softball season is down to one game in each of the Wayne Recreation leagues.

Greg's, disposing of a well-prepared, defensive-minded Pittman, 2-1, and Johnson's, who put the final nails in Pittman's coffin, 4-2, advanced to the finals of the Wayne Class "A" softball playoffs.

The finals, weather permitting, were scheduled to be played Tues., Aug. 18 at 7:15 p.m.

Over in Women's Class A action, it's Tastee Freez vs. Mr. Steak for that circuit's playoff championship title. Tastee edged Mr. Steak 3-2 to drop its arch-rival into the loser's bracket.

However, Mr. Steak bounced back and dumped J & D Auto, 6-3, to move into the finals.

Wayne Bank will be matched with Tom's Tavern in the finals of the women's Class B championship. Tom's earned the right to play for the title by edging Extra Point 8-7 and Wayne Bank erased Lucille's from the playoff path, 7-3.

Lauraine's won a stunning 3-2 decision over Village Bar to keep its title hopes alive in the Men's Class "C" playoffs, but Village Bar then turned around and beat The Wheel, 6-4, to move into the final round. They'll have a chance to avenge their loss to Lauraine's.

After getting past Roger Hurd's 6-4, the U of D now must await the outcome of the Hurd's and Poor Devil's duel to learn who'll it play for the men's Class B playoff title.

Rick Pittman posted a rare shutout as he twirled a 4-hitter in his team's 3-0 triumph over Johnson's in the first round of the Class A men's playoffs. He also helped his cause with three singles off a loser Dennis Cowell who was tagged for eight hits.

Cowell gave up the three crucial runs in the bottom of the third, then gathered goose eggs the rest of the evening.

Henry, Bruce win Canton 'marathon'

More than 300 runners took to the road during Canton Parks and Recreation's third annual 5-Mile Festival Run.

The marathon, staged in connection with the Country Festival, saw two Ann Arbor runners came away with top honors.

Greg Henry, 23, was the over-all winner as he posted an excellent 24:23 to beat out a close friend, Peter Hallop, 34, also of Ann Arbor, who covered the distance in 24:40.

Defending champ, Gary Wolfram, 30, of Canton, finished third over-all in the standings as he crossed the finish line in 25:13. The first woman over the finish line was Dearborn's 18-year-old sensation, Kim Bruce, who was clocked in 33:28. Her time was good for 81 over-all.

Here are the results of the run, according to age group (top three) and over-all:

MENS "A" (10-14)

Pete Ross — 28:09

Craig Hickey — 31:15

John Keros — 32:33

MENS "B" (15-18)

Kenneth DuBois — 26:19

Senior circuit champs

Posting an over-all 12-2 won-lost record, the "Dingbats" proved to be the best team in the Belleville-Van Buren Senior Softball League this season. The team, sponsored by State Rep. Gary Owea, included: Renee Kruckow, (front row, from left) Carol Wisniewski, Stephanie Johnson, Sherry Charkiewicz, Michelle LaC-

Lappen shifts to title gear

By ERIC GEARNS
(Special to The Associated News-papers)

Perhaps one of the most demanding sports in the world is race car driving. And in race car driving the most popular area of late is the stock car class of racing.

Names like Richard Petty, David Pearson, A.J. Foyt, and Cale Yarborough are as common to racing fans as Babe Ruth and Lou Gherig are to baseball aficionados.

Locally, there is another Richard Petty blossoming into stardom, none other than Danny Leppen of Romulus.

The 26-year-old Romulus High grad is the current point leader at Flat Rock Speedway in the Stock "A" category with 915 points with only two races remaining.

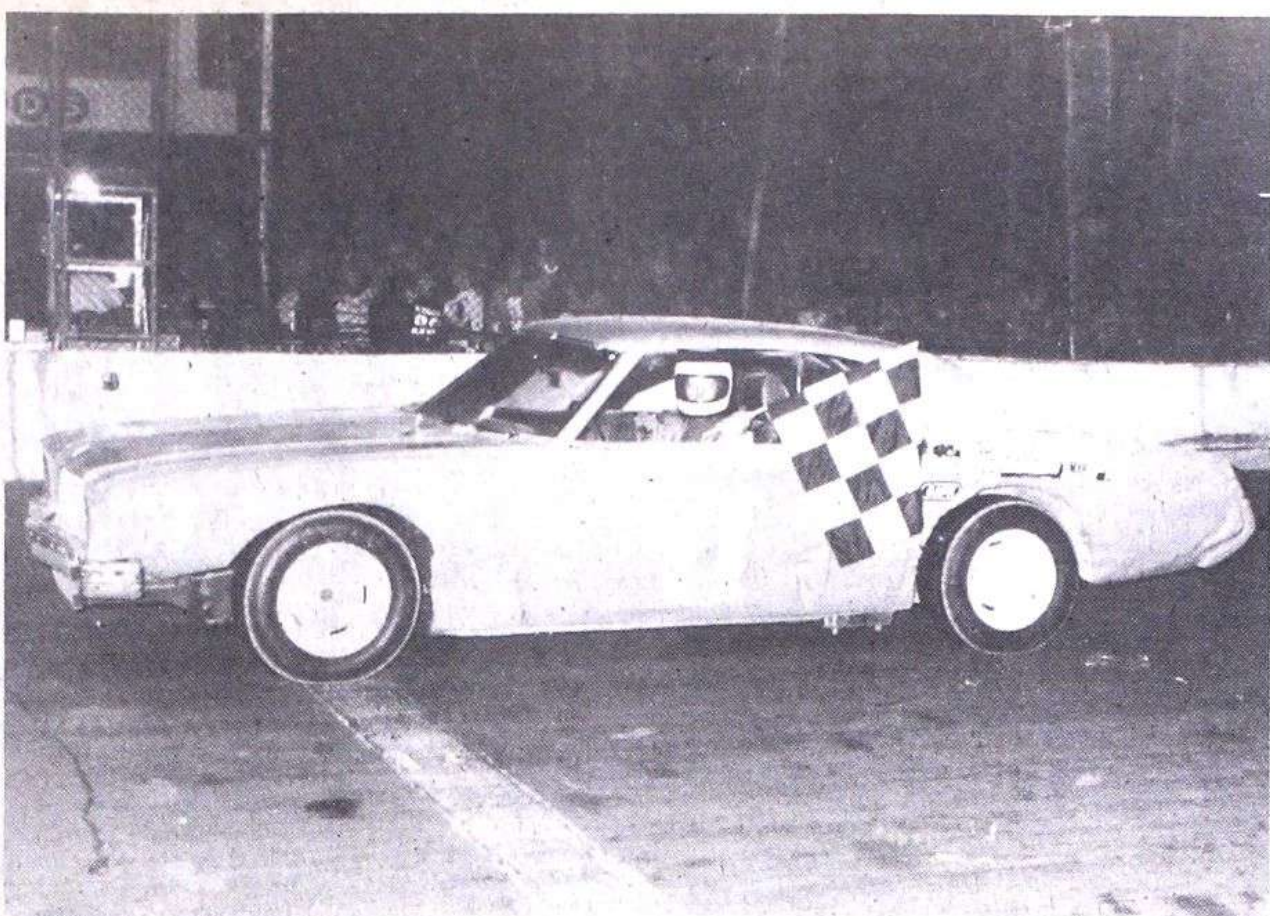

Keppen's nearest competitor is 40 points behind and Leppen intends to increase that advantage in this Saturday's feature race.

"I have no intention of letting up and just trying to finish third, I believe the most important thing in racing is to win and that is what I'm going to try to do," said Leppen.

Stock car racing is not the tame sport around but the dangers don't seem to bother young Leppen.

"I think there is probably danger in every sport and I put any thought of getting hurt out of my mind. If you worry about it, then it will hurt your ability to drive," explained Leppen.

Naturally the car is important in a needs just to finish in the top three in the remaining two races to clinch the title. Leppen is a native of Romulus and a 1973 graduate of Romulus High School.

race and Leppen's 1972 Olds Cutlass has served him well this year. However, Leppen attributes much of his success to his crew, Romulus residents, John Banks, Dave Loeman, Marilyn Much, and Alice Leppen, the latter two are his sister and wife respectively.

"You can't win without a fantastic crew who believes in you and your car. There are probably better cars at Flat Rock, but there certainly isn't any better crew," said Danny.

Leppen said his close proximity to winning the track championship does add extra pressure. "Sure you feel it, I don't sleep well and all I think about is the race. I think that the closer you get to winning it all the tougher it becomes."

Leppen lives on Cordell in Romulus and is the son of Romulus residents Kenneth and Ruth Leppen.

The young man, who is an employee of Martell Tool in Allen Park, plans to pursue his career in racing.

"If I get the right breaks I would certainly like to take a shot at running the NASCAR circuit. I know it is a lot tougher there, but I feel like I am paying my dues now at Flat Rock," said Leppen.

"It is nice to win locally, but you always wonder how you would do against the very best," he added. Danny Leppen doesn't want to wonder he intends to find out.

Regatta sets sail on Ford Lake

Sailors to test skills for nationals

The Fifth Annual Pizza Hut Regatta, sponsored by the Washtenaw County Pizza Hut's, is scheduled to take place on Ford Lake in Ypsilanti this Saturday and Sunday, August 21, and 22.

Many of the sailors competing are from the surrounding communities.

Former Canton residents Mike and Beth Maupin are traveling in from Pittsburgh, Pa. with the hope of taking home a trophy. This year's Regatta chairperson Dick Akans of Belleville looks forward to what he says, "is some of the best sailing competition of the year."

It takes the combined co-operation of the staffs at Y.Y.R.O. Park, Pizza Hut, and the Ford Lake Sail Club to get a Regatta of this size off the ground.

In the last five years this Regatta has become the largest one of its kind in the midwest, and one of the largest in the country.

Registration is limited to Hobie 16 foot catamarans. This is a style of twin hulled catamaran with rainbow colored sails.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. at J.Y.R.O. Park.

At 11 a.m. the catamarans, with their multi-colored sails, will fill the lake.

Many spectators come to view this exciting event. In heavy winds they will see the adventurous and sometimes dangerous trapezing of the crew member, as they hang from various rigging on the boat strapped in a nylon diaper.

The Regatta is a breath-taking once a year event, officials say.

WHA announces hockey tryouts

Medal winners

Whipping their counter parts in the National League 14-2 and burying Central East 22-8, the Major Minor All-Star team earned the Westland Youth Athletic Association championship. Team members who received accolades for their performances included Jeff Fuller, Matt Hausch and Tim Kings, who received game balls. The champ's line-up included: David Cockfield, (first row, from left) representing the Bulls, Chad Mela (Scorpions), Jimmy Gaines

Wildcats could be 'greatest'

Head Coach Bill Rademacher at Northern Michigan University feels his 1981 club "could be the greatest" in Wildcat football history if it "can shy away from injuries."

"We're looking for a lot of exciting fun in '81," said Rademacher who has 34-returning lettermen a list of nearly 100 candidates who reported for the start of fall football practice.

In that group are 1980 All-American Curt Wojan who anchors the front line at middle guard where he will be flanked by Bob Yauck, ex-Robichaud all-star who is considered the fastest lineman on the team.

Newcomer Mike Howe, the 1981 NCAA Division II wrestling champ, also provides the Wildcat line with a formidable look.

Jeff Carter and Charlie Pierson each swatted two singles as Greg's got by Wayne Assembly 6-2 in another Class A thriller. Joe Kadlec managed to hold the losers to five hits while Wayne's Jim Kolak gave up nine hits.

After seven innings each team failed to score in the Greg's and Pittman's classic last week, then Greg's tilted the scoreboard for a run in the seventh, got immediate response from Pittman's, then scored what proved to be the winning run in the top of the ninth.

Kadlec was the loser, after giving up nine hits, while Pittman chalked up the victory.

Johnson's scored twice in the second inning, picked up what proved the winning run in the sixth and added an insurance tally in the seventh en route to a close 4-2 victory over Pittman's.

Gary Bowen latched on to a pair of singles and drove in the winning run for Johnson's while Dennis Cowell was the winning pitcher. Cowell was tagged with 10 hits, including a single and double by Pat Bledsoe.

In the only mismatch of the playoff series, Johnson's destroyed Wayne Assembly 18-3 as the winners cranked out 24 hits off of loser Jim Kolak who gave up three runs batted in each to Mark Lipinski, Bob Meyers and Bill Hughes.

Lipinski turned in with three singles and a double, while Meyers collected two hits and Hughes had a pair of doubles.

Tastee Freez pounded J & D Auto into submission 10-1 as pitcher Renee Burnie served up nine hits to chalk up the victory. Debbie Patterson drove in three runs with a single and double off of loser, Bledsoe.

However, Mr. Steak gave the league champs a scare before falling 3-2 in their semi-final confrontation. Tastee Freez got on the scoreboard in the first inning with a run, then padded it to a 3-0 lead before Mr. Steak rallied for two runs in the fifth off of winner Burnie.

Burnie has her problems with Lisa Rumble who laced two singles and drove in one of the two runs. Losing pitcher Mary Porter was tagged for a pair of hits by Burnie and Cevi Clark.

Miss Rumble also drilled two singles to lift Mr. Steak to a 6-3 victory over J & D.

Sue Riggs scattered six hits as Mr. Steak's blanked Greg's 6-0, then Greg's failed to show up for their scheduled game with J & D.

Although they had five less hits than Lucille's, Wayne Bank earned a key 7-3 victory over their rivals in Class B women's action. Mary Baryo was the winning pitcher, giving up three of those 10 hits — all singles — to Mary Betsinger. Rosie Franz latched on to two other hits for Lucille's.

Wilda Berg was the loser.

Lucille's earlier had handily defeated Teal Electric 6-1 behind Berg's three-hit pitching efforts. Barb Witkowski collected four hits off of loser Doreen Poplin.

Second Street Market held off a last inning Extra Point rally to win a cliff-hanger 8-7. Extra Point came up with three of their runs in the bottom of the seventh but failed to get the equalizer.

Linda Ruffing was staked to 5-runs in the opening inning and managed to survive the late surge to pick up the victory. Sue Richardson was tagged for the loss as Extra Point waste Sharon Wilher's triple and single.

The Village Bar also staged a last of the seventh rally but came up short as Lauraine's held on to a thrilling 3-2 victory in their first encounter with their playoff foe. Lauraine's tallied once in the opening inning, added a run in the fifth and scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth in Class C action.

Randy Bell and Randy Allen each had two hits for the winners who received a four-hit pitching performance from Jerry Young. Loser Jim Johnston served up seven hits.

Village Bar reached the semi-finals by destroying Brick's 12-4 as winner Dennis Anas held the losers to seven hits. Bob Russ hammered out four hits off of loser Todd VanByner who also gave up a single and triple to John Jackovich. Greg Little made his three singles count for three RBIs.

Lauraine's broke a 5-11 deadlock in the bottom of the seventh to edge the Wheel 6-5 as each team gathered 10 hits. Jerry Young was the winner as he survived the bats of Bob Cebalski and Mike Schroeder who each cracked two hits. Mike Allen and Mike Sharp split four of Lauraine's hits off of loser Bill Cook.

U of D managed to survive a couple of close contests to remain in the thick of the Men's Class B title race. Centry 21 came up with three runs in the bottom of the seventh, but Gary Truskowski's run-scoring triple in the top of the eighth gave the U of D a narrow 6-5 victory.

Jeff Hogan was the winning pitcher. He was tagged for three hits by Rick Brewis and a single and double by John Perras. Joe Sowa sustained the loss.

The U of D also needed some late inning heroics to stop Roger Hurd's club as Hogan sparked a two-run sixth to give the title hopeful a 6-4 victory. Hogan, who also was the winning pitcher, delivered a triple and single to Ted Rize while Jeff Puzutti also connected for two hits and two RBIs.

Poor Devils erupted for 10 runs in the top of the fifth to bury Centry 21, 13-2. John Buford paced the winners with three singles and to RBIs. Don Yanick was the winning pitcher as he tossed a 10-hitter, giving up a circuit clout to Rick Brewis who was also the losing hurler.

Hurd's came up with a decisive run in the bottom of the eighth to end the Devil's season 6-5. The Devils received three hits from Gary Asher and two singles from Ron Zuber who led the assault on winner Ted Rize.

Rize got ample help from Dan Parker who blasted a pair of over-the-fence homers and also singled off a loser Yanick.

Wolves are champs

The Wolves picked up divisional and city Westland Youth Athletic Association Major Minor West titles en route to a 14-2 won-lost season. The champs knocked off the Boas 15-1 to win the divisional, then went on to defeat the combined forces of the National and American Leagues 26-10 for the city title. Outstanding players in the series were Joe Gedman, and Mark Bauschat. Members of the team are:

Redford club captures Anderson softball title

Suder was super at the plate also, rapping 3-for-4. Tom Quarry added 3-for-4, and Most Valuable Player Andy Sobrowski clubbed 3-for-3, including a 3-run homer over the 300-foot fence. Carriage House, in addition to having an air-tight defense, pounded out 17 hits.

Another exciting clash in the post-season spectacular was between Shore Locker Room and Metro Merchants of Westland, when the Shorians rallied for seven runs in the last two innings to take a 9-8 thriller. It was an especially disheartening defeat for Merchants, who never trailed in the game until Locker Room scored three in the bottom of the seventh after Merchants had taken an 8-6 lead in the top of the last inning.

Metro Merchants, led by Tom Guilfoyle's homer and double, Wayne Hamilton's single and double and Tom Tompkins' two singles, scored three in the top of the second and three more in the third to take a 6-2 margin. Tom Taylor (2-for-3) and Dave Schultz (2-for-4) paced Shore's counter-attack. Both of these teams showed why they have qualified for a world berth in Ft. Wayne, Ind. Labor Day weekend tournament.

Trailing 6-2 going into the bottom of the 6th, the Locker Room showered a rain of hits to score four runs and knot the count at 6-all. Metro, showing it was not finished, rallied to score a pair in the top of the 7th for what looked like the winning runs in an 8-6 ballgame.

That's when Shore pulled its last-inning heroics to score three and take the game. Metro Merchants had 13 hits, two less than the victors.

The outcome threw Greg's into a battle with Shore to see who would clash with Carriage House for the title. Both pitchers got excellent defense and kept the ball high and out of reach of the sluggers, as Greg's pulled out a tight 3-1 win.

Pitcher Joe Kadlec "never was better" in limiting Shore's sluggers to just five hits and a single tally in the bottom of the 6th. Kadlec, himself, rapped 2-for-2 and was responsible for the 3-0 lead he carried into the 6th before yielding a meaningless tally. Dave Grazier, on the hill for Locker Room, also pitched a 5-hitter and gave up two runs in the second and one in the 6th in an otherwise perfect performance.

The 3-1 victory sent Greg's Emergency Room against Carriage House, who seemed to have its number both times the teams met over the weekend.

Carriage House, getting a single, double and homer from Andy Sobrowski (4 RBIs), and a homerun and single from tournament batting champion Blake Bernstein (.833), scored three runs in each of the first, second and fifth frames to carve out a 9-1 lead. Most Valuable Player Sobrowski hammered a 2-run blast over the 300-foot fence in the 5th and Bernstein followed with a barrier-clearing blow to put the game out of reach.

Greg's showed a spark of life in the top of the sixth with three tallies to cut the margin to 9-4, but a single run by Carriage House in the bottom of that frame was the last score in the 10-4 game.

Ron Reid shelled a triple and single and Mike Plagens collected a pair of singles for Greg's off the stringy hurling of Ron Suder of Carriage House. Suder yielded 11 hits but his mates pounded out 14 safeties in the title game.

So, Redford Carriage House reigns as this year's Anderson Tournament champion. Greg's Emergency Room Lounge of Wayne was second and Shore Locker Room of St. Clair Shores was third.

Canton golfers swing for crown

Lou Skotzke scored four out of a potential five points and held on to her one-point lead over Shirley Young in the Canton Parks and Recreation women's golf league.

Ms. Young stayed in the thick of the race by sweeping four points from her opponent, Mildred Livingston.

Ms. Skotzke is atop of the standings with 27 points, one more than the closest challenger, Ms. Young, while Betty Williams holds down third place with 25 points.

Galina Burgh's 52 was the best score for the day at Fellows Creek and Ms. Williams checked in with a 53.

In the meantime, Al Martin and Rick Thorne swept all five points from Gerald Reinke and Gordon Shull to take over first place in the men's golf league. The pacesetters have 21½ points and are up 3½ points on Gerald and Gordon with only one week of competition left to the season.

Brian Hayes posted a 37 for the best round of the day, while Randy Ross carded a 38.

Ralph Detz held on to first place in the Canton seniors league as he took 15 out of 22 points from Ed Buczek to build his total to 51.

Louis Seromik got 14 points from Stan Stork to stay in second with 48, while Deetz also had an excellent 40 for the best round of the day. John Morgan finished with 42.

Over in Division B, Mike Ryan and Charlie Freeze took four of five points from John Thomason and Lloyd Dibble to hold their lead with 16 points.

Will Jacobs and Harry Walkley stayed close on the leaders' trail as they picked up three of the five points from Art Lawrence and Jim Monroe for 14 points.

Joe Pietryka and Walt McCrea, at 17 points, increased their lead in Division A. They grabbed three points from Vurge Mooney and John Seewald in their latest outings and Mike Moggio's round of 34 tied Rick Nadeau for the best score of the year.

Dick Kraft posted an impressive 38 score for his 9-hole round.

Canton seeks tennis players

There's still time remaining to register for the annual Canton Open Tennis Tournament.

The tournament will be held Sept. 18, 19, and 20 on the Canton High School tennis courts located on Canton Center Rd. There is a $3 registration fee for singles' competition and a $5 per team for doubles.

The competition is open to boys and girls singles, 17 years old and under; men and women's singles and doubles; and 40 years old and older, also singles and doubles competition.

Bob Dates, recreation supervisor, said that there must be at least five teams per event in order for competition to be staged. Participants may enter one singles and one doubles event with the exception of the junior division.

After registering, competitors are asked to telephone the recreation department (397-100, extension 212) on Wed., Sept. 11 between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. to learn the draw.

"Also, once you enter an age group you must play in that bracket," Dates cautioned. "For example, if you decide to play 40 and over singles, you can't play adult doubles.

For further information, telephone the recreation department offices.
